Provided, however, that in lieu of any such bond or bonds the licensee may furnish the city, subject to the approval of the comptroller and the corporation counsel, public liability and property damage insurance coverage in like amount, by a policy of insurance issued therefor running to the city or by a rider attached to any existing policy running to the city, conditioned upon the payment of any loss, damage or injury resulting to persons or property by reason of the use, keeping, sale or transporting of such explosives, a certified copy of such policy of insurance or such rider to be furnished the comptroller.

90-32. Before any operation shall begin under a license for the transportation of any explosives, or for the use of explosives in any manner, or for blasting, the licensee shall file with the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention, in writing, the name or names of the person or persons designated by him to handle said explosives or to load holes or discharge explosives, to prepare charges and load the holes, to transport by vehicle or otherwise, or to have the care of magazines.

Any such person, before being permitted to exercise any of such functions, shall file a written application with the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention for a "certificate of fitness", and before the issuance of any such certificate the said division marshal shall examine such applicant as to his qualifications to fill such position or positions, under the conditions herein described. No person shall be permitted to have the actual care and handling of such explosives without first having obtained a certificate of fitness as herein provided. Such certificate of fitness shall be subject to inspection by any member of the fire or police department at all times. The annual fee for such certificate of fitness shall be fifteen dollars to be paid to the Director of Revenue.

(f) Be familiar with the risks incident to the service to be performed by him, and capable of taking all necessary precautions.

Nothing herein contained shall prevent a licensee from applying for and obtaining a certificate of fitness if entitled to the same under the provisions of this section. The actual work done must at all times be conducted by a person holding a certificate of fitness.

90-33. The division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention shall appoint an inspector whose duty it shall be to make frequent inspection of all premises and work of all licensees. Said inspection shall include detailed and exact examination of the manner in which licensees are complying with the provisions of Chapter 125, and whether all due and reasonable precautions to avoid accidents are being taken, and shall include a verification that all employees who are performing work for which a certificate of fitness is required are in possession of such certificate. The inspector shall make a report in writing to the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention at the close of each day's inspection, stating conditions observed, and such reports shall be kept on file by the said division marshal.

90-34. All dynamite containing nitroglycerine shall be tested by the chemist according to the potassium iodide starch heat test, otherwise known as the British heat test.

90-37. No license shall be granted to any person engaged in the use or sale of dynamite or other explosive until such dealer, contractor or other person heretofore referred to, shall first submit to the chemist for analysis a sample of such dynamite or any other explosive sought to be used or sold, and whenever such chemist shall certify that such sample is of standard purity and quality, a license shall be issued, if all other requirements heretofore prescribed are complied with.

It shall be the duty of the inspector from time to time to bring a sample of dynamite or other explosives sold or used by licensees, and to submit such sample to the chemist, who shall analyze and test same, and if it shall be found that such sample is not of standard purity and quality, the license of such licensee shall be revoked by the mayor.

90-38. Every person engaged in, as principal, or connected with, any activity involving explosives or blasting operations, shall make an application to the division marshall in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention for a permit to keep and use explosives, giving at the time, in writing, the name of the licensee, location of the office or place of business, occupation, proposed location of the magazine, together with plans and descriptions of the construction of such magazine, the quantity and kind of explosives proposed to be kept therein, and the names of the employees required to have certificates of fitness.

If the proposed location of the magazine shall be satisfactory to the said division marshal, he shall approve such application and transmit the same with his approval thereon to the city clerk, who shall, upon payment by such applicant to the Director of Revenue of a permit fee of five dollars, issue to such applicant a permit to locate the magazine at the location given in such application.

It shall be unlawful for any licensee to move or cause to be moved any magazine, after having received a permit for the use of same, until such licensee shall make a new application to the said division marshal for permission so to do and shall have secured a permit for such purpose, and every application for such permit shall specify the place at which it is desired to locate the magazine proposed to be moved.

The division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention shall recommend the revocation of any permit issued to blast rock or any other substance for non-compliance with any of the provisions of this section.

Liquefied Petroleum Gas Tanks

90-39. Before installing a permanent fixed liquefied petroleum gas tank greater than 2000 gallons individual water capacity or when the aggregate water capacity exceeds 4000 gallons, the owner, lessee or agent of the premises where the tank is to be installed shall file with the Bureau of Fire Prevention a written application for permission to install said tank. The application shall set forth the location of the tank, the purposes for which the gas is to be used, the nature of occupancy, the dimensions, specifications and capacity of the tank and such other information as may be required. The application shall have affixed a statement, signed by the installer, stating that the tank, devices, equipment and safety clearances conform to the provisions of this code. Attached to the application shall be a plat, drawn to scale, showing the location of the tank, all adjoining streets, alleys, railroads, building, occupancies and premises within three hundred feet of the tank.

For installation of systems utilizing containers 2000 gallons water capacity or less or 4000 gallons aggregate capacity or less, the following procedure should be followed. A supplier having a valid liquefied petroleum gas supplier's certification as hereinafter provided shall file within 3 days with the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention a certification that the system and its installation complies with the requirements of this code. The system can be filled and used upon the filing of such certification.

If the tank is designed in accordance with the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Boiler and Pressure Vessel Code, Section VIII Unfired Pressure Vessels, the division marshal shall, upon receiving the application and plat, submit the application to the Department of Buildings for zoning approval, and to the Department of Environmental Control for approval of the tank and all equipment subject to pressure.

Upon receipt of the approval of the Department of Buildings and of the Department of Environmental Control, if required, the division marshal shall make, or cause to be made, an inspection of the site where said tank is to be installed to determine whether or not said location provides the safety clearance required by Chapter 129.

Upon satisfactory evidence that the site, tank and equipment as described in the application, specifications and plat conform to the provisions of the chapter, the division marshal shall issue to said applicant a permit for the installation of the tank. Upon the completion of the installation and before any liquefied petroleum gas has been put into the tank or container, the installer shall notify in writing the Department of Environmental Control and the Bureau of Fire Prevention that the installation is ready for final external inspection. Upon receipt of the reports from the aforesaid Department and the Bureau that the installation has been approved, the division marshal shall issue to the owner, lessee or agent or other person in charge of the property, a certificate stating that the installation conforms to the provisions of this code.

The Department of Environmental Control shall make an external inspection of each liquefied petroleum gas tank and equipment, which they originally approved, every year to determine their satisfactory condition for the purpose for which it is used.

All tanks, cylinders, containers, valves, piping, devices and equipment for such gas shall conform to the requirements given in the National Fire Protection Association's pamphlet 58 entitled Liquefied Petroleum Gases, 1972 Edition, unless specifically covered in Chapter 129 of this code.

A temporary portable liquefied petroleum gas system shall be defined as a liquefied petroleum gas system using piping, tubing, and devices which may be moved from place to place on the premises during its period of use.

A temporary fixed liquefied petroleum gas system shall not be used, unless first inspected for compliance with the applicable requirements of Chapter 129 of this code by a supplier having a valid liquefied petroleum gas suppliers' certification as hereinafter provided. The supplier shall certify, within three days, to the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention that the temporary fixed system complies with the requirements of this code.

Every liquefied petroleum gas supplier shall make available on call repair crews to respond to any emergency involving liquefied petroleum gas or equipment supplied by them.

Every liquefied petroleum gas supplier shall notify, within three days, the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention that liquefied petroleum gas has been sold or delivered to any firm or site.

A liquefied petroleum gas supplier's certification shall be issued to any supplier who demonstrates to a board, hereinafter established, that he has knowledge of the applicable provisions of this code.

There is hereby established a board which shall pass upon the qualifications of applicants desiring to be certified as a liquefied petroleum gas supplier. The board shall consist of the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention, the chief fire prevention engineer of the Bureau of Fire Prevention, and a person selected by said division marshal who is experienced in handling of liquefied petroleum gas and has the recommendation and approval of the National Liquefied Petroleum Gas Association.

Said board shall have the power to certify any liquefied petroleum gas supplier having a knowledge of the provisions of this code concerning liquefied petroleum gas. Said board shall have the power to revoke any certification of any supplier who violates the provisions of this code as well as for any other just cause.

In addition, necessary projection screens may be used on such school stages. All such scenery and decorations, before being used, shall be treated with a flame retardant solution, and thereafter continuously maintained, so that they will be capable of withstanding the test for scenery and decorations given in Section 90-58 of this code.

1. During such time the show, etc., is open for business or activity, one special fire guard shall be provided for each 25,000 square feet of exhibition or show area including the storage space used by the show or exhibition.
2. During such time the show, etc., is closed for business, such as the night time hours and during the move-in and move-out periods of the show, etc., one special fire guard shall be provided for each 50,000 square feet of exhibition or show area including the storage space used by the show or exhibition.
3. The division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention, depending upon the nature of the show, anticipated attendance, the nature of the audience or where there are more floors or levels of exhibitions which would make items 1 and 2 inadequate may, at his discretion, require additional special fire guards.

The division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention, or an appointed representative, shall examine all persons who seek employment as special fire guards, as to their qualifications and fitness for the duties for which they seek to be employed; and whenever said examiner finds any such applicant to be competent, he shall, upon payment of $10.00, by the applicant to the Director of Revenue, issue a license to such applicant. The division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention may suspend for a period of not to exceed thirty days or revoke any license at any time when he finds any special fire guard to be incompetent, inefficient or neglectful of the duties required of him by the provisions of this code. Where a license is revoked, the holder thereof, upon written request of said division marshal, shall be given a hearing before said division marshal within thirty days after such revocation. No person shall employ anyone as a special fire guard whose license has been revoked or suspended.

90-67. The promoter, show manager, or person in charge of any show, display, convention, contest, exhibition or similiar activity shall submit in triplicate a diagram to the Bureau of Fire Prevention for approval, before any space is let and not less than 60-days prior to the opening of such event, indicating the arrangement of each booth, display area, aisles, means of exit and fire protection equipment. Such special stage fireman shall be kept on duty by every such person at every such theater conducted by him at least thirty minutes prior to the commencement of every performance and continuously thereafter during the entire time of such performance and until the entire audience shall have left the building; provided, however, that there shall be no necessity for the employment of a special stage fireman where the stage portion of any building is less than seventy-two square feet in area.

90-71. It shall be the duty of the special stage fireman to see that all fire appliances on stage and above and below it, in the dressing rooms and throughout the basement of every such building used as theater are in their proper places and in good working order, that the tanks supplying the standpipes and sprinkler system are full of water, and that the ventilator above the stage is in good working order, to be determined by actually opening such ventilators at least once in every two weeks. The result of such test shall be noted in daily reports hereinafter described. Such special stage fireman shall make daily reports in duplicate, in such manner and form as the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention shall prescribe, which report shall be countersigned by the fire guard. The original of the said report shall be forwarded each day to the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention and the duplicate thereof shall be delivered to the owner of the theater where such special stage fireman is employed or to the person having the management thereof. Said special stage fireman shall be subject to the orders of the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention during such time as the theater shall be opened to or occupied by the public.

90-72. It shall be the duty of the fire guard to see that all exit doors are unfastened and unobstructed, that the aisles, corridors and fire escapes are kept clear and free from all obstructions, and in the event of a fire, it shall be his duty to see that the operation of the ventilation system in the auditorium is discontinued, and he shall also perform such other duties as may be assigned to him by the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention. Such fire guard may in the discretion of the owner or manager of the theater wherein he is employed, act as chief usher or auditorium superintendent during performance.

90-73. It shall be the duty of such special stage fireman and guard to report in person to the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention, or his accredited representative, at least once in each month, and they and each of them shall be subject to and required to obey such rules and regulations as the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention prescribes governing the duties to be performed by them in conformity with this section.

90-74. This part of this chapter dealing with stage firemen and guards shall not be construed so as to prevent the owner or manager of a theater employing special stage firemen or fire guards from assigning such person so employed to duties other than those herein enumerated when the theater is not open to the public.

90-75. License required. The division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention shall examine all persons who desire to seek employment as special stage firemen or fire guards, as to their qualifications and fitness for the duties for which they seek to be employed, and whenever said division marshal finds any such applicant to be competent, he shall, upon payment of ten dollars by the applicant to the Director of Revenue, issue a license to such applicant, and he may revoke any such license issued by him at any time when he finds such special stage fireman or guard incompetent inefficient, or neglectful of the duties required by this part of this code; but the said division marshal must give the licensee a reasonable opportunity to be heard before revocation. It shall be the duty of any person, firm or corporation who conducts, engages in, maintains, operates, carries on or manages a business or occupation where any public sleeping accommodations are furnished or maintained for twenty or more persons for a period of one day or more, to retain and keep at his or their own expense at least one adult who has received a certificate of fitness as hereinafter provided as a desk clerk. Such desk clerk shall be kept on duty continuously during such time as the premises shall be open to or occupied by the public. Any employee at the premises meeting the qualifications set forth in Section 90-79 may file an application for certification as a desk clerk.

90-77. Certification. The division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention shall examine all persons who file an application for certification as desk clerks as to their qualifications and fitness for duties and, whenever said division marshal shall find an applicant to be competent, he shall upon payment of ten dollars by the applicant to the Director of Revenue issue a certificate for a period of one year from the date of issuance. Every desk clerk shall keep said certificate on his person at all times while he is on duty, and said certificate shall be subject to inspection by any officer of the fire, police or building departments. Renewals of said certificates shall be subject to all the provisions of Sections 90-76 to 90-82 of this code.

90-78. The division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention may suspend for a period of not to exceed thirty days or revoke any certificate at any time when he finds any desk clerk to be incompetent, inefficient or neglectful of the duties required of him by the provisions of this code. Where a certificate is revoked, the holder thereof, upon written request of said division marshal, shall be given a hearing before said division marshal within thirty days after such revocation.

No person shall employ anyone as a desk clerk whose certificate has been revoked or suspended.

90-79. Any person who desires to act as a desk clerk shall make application for a certificate to the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention. To receive such certificate the applicant must:

(a) be of legal age, temperate habits and good moral character;

(b) be able to speak and understand the English language;

(c) produce evidence of his employment or occupation and residence for the previous two years;

(d) pass examination conducted by the issuing officer upon the laws and ordinances governing fire protection, operation of emergency first aid fire equipment, upon the hazards and duties incident to the supervision of the safety of persons to be accommodated as provided in Section 90-76 hereof;

(e) not have had any such certificate revoked;

(f) furnish with the application for such certificate two unmounted photographs of the applicant, not less than 2"x3", one of which shall be attached to the application, the other to the certificate when issued.

90-80. Monthly reports concerning the premises and fire equipment shall be made and certified to by a certified desk clerk, in such manner and form as the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention shall prescribe, which report shall be countersigned by his immediate superior. The original of said report shall be forwarded before the fifth day of each month to the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention, and the duplicate thereof shall be delivered to the owner of the public sleeping accommodations where such desk clerk is employed, or the person having the management thereof.

90-81. It shall be the duty of the desk clerk daily to see that all exit doors are unfastened and unobstructed and that the corridors and fire escapes are kept clear and free of all obstructions; that all fire appliances in the rooms and throughout the premises are in proper place and in good working order; that in the event of a fire, it shall be his duty to first notify the Chicago Fire Department of said fire immediately, and, thereafter, he shall spread the alarm to all occupants of the premises; and he shall obey and perform such other duties as may be prescribed by rules and regulations adopted, from time to time, by the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention.

Such desk clerk may, at the discretion of the owner or manager of the premises wherein he is employed, perform other duties during his hours of employment, provided the additional duties are not inconsistent with the duties herein set forth.

90-82. Any person violating any of the provisions of Sections 90-76 to 90-81 shall be fined not more than two hundred dollars for each offense, and each day such violation shall continue shall be regarded as a separate offense. In addition, such violation shall be cause for suspension or revocation of the certificate of the desk clerk.

Theater Seating

90-83. The owner, lessee or manager of any theater having a seating capacity of three hundred persons or more shall cause to be printed on all programs furnished for any performance, on a page opposite to that on which the cast is printed, a diagram showing conspicuously the place of every exit from such building. This diagram shall be drawn to such a scale that the diagram shall cover the entire page on which it is printed. A diagram of the floor plans, showing the location of every seat on each floor and also the exits leading from each floor drawn to a scale on one-eighth inch to the foot, shall be posted in a conspicuous place outside the box office of such theater so as to be easily seen by the public.

90-84. Whenever seats, chairs, camp stools or benches are used in theater buildings or public assembly units and said seats, chairs, camp stools or benches are not permanently fastened or attached to the floor, all aisles, side aisles, front aisles and cross aisles shall be plainly marked out with white paint, whitewash or white tape or other suitable and distinguishing marks or markers, the width of the mark used to identify the aisles being not less than three inches.

Obstructing Exits or Open Areas

90-85. It shall be unlawful to lock or fasten any door or other means of exit from any building, room or space, other than individual dwelling units, where persons are gathered during any of the time in which such space is so occupied, in any manner such as will not permit immediate opening from within of such means of exit without the use of a key and without special knowledge.

90-86. No person shall at any time place an encumbrance of any kind whatsoever before or in any exitway or before or upon any fire escape, balcony or ladder intended as a means of escape from fire. It shall be the duty of every member of the police and fire departments, who shall discover any fire escapes encumbered in any manner, to report forthwith to the Bureau of Fire Prevention and the said bureau shall immediately notify the owner and the tenant to remove such encumbrances.

It shall be unlawful for any person to place, store or keep, or permit to be placed, stored or kept under or at the bottom of any stairway, inside or outside, elevator or other shaft in any building, any combustible or flammable materials, fluids or compounds, nor shall any such combustible or flammable materials be placed or stored or kept in any place where ignition or burning would obstruct or render hazardous, egress from a building. No obstruction shall be permitted in hallways of tenement houses or apartment houses.

All full width of doors, aisles and passageways within and leading into or out of theaters, churches and all other places of public assemblage shall be kept free from easels, signs, standards, campstools, chairs, sofas, benches, and any other article which would obstruct the width of the exit or delay the exit of the audience, congregation or assemblage during the entire time during which any show, performance, service, exhibition, lecture, concert, ball or other assemblage may be held, and it shall be unlawful for any person to sit or stand or remain seated or standing, or to allow any other person so to remain in any such place of public assemblage in any aisle under any circumstances, or in any exit or passage required for the safe exit of the assemblage. Clear passage from all exits and on all sidewalks must at all times be maintained outside of all theaters and other places of public assemblage.

No aisle, passageway or stairway in any store shall be obstructed with tables, show cases, or other obstructions during hours said store is open to the public.

It shall be the duty of the commissioner of police to render assistance in the enforcement of the provisions of this section, and to direct and require police officers to enter all places of public assemblage for such purposes.

90-87. Spaces required as safety clearances shall be maintained free of obstruction and encumbrance by any combustible material.

90-88. Stocks of all kinds shall be so arranged and maintained as not to obstruct any required means of exit and shall in no case extend above a level one foot and six inches below the ceiling of any sprinklered space.

Fire Drills

90-89. It shall be the duty of the institutional administrator or other person in charge of all institutional buildings to conduct fire drills, subject to the rules and regulations of the Bureau of Fire Prevention of the fire department. Such fire drills shall be practiced not less than once each calendar month that such building is used for institutional purposes.

90-90. For school fire drill requirements, see Section 78-4.5.

Smoking Restrictions

90-91. Smoking or the carrying of a lighted cigar, pipe or cigarette is prohibited:

(a) In every hazardous use room, building or premises;

(b) In every institutional building except in the administration office on the first floor and in rooms designated as smoking rooms;

(c) In every theater except in rooms designated as smoking rooms;

(d) In every church, school, garage or hangar;

(e) In every building or premises occupied as a circus, stock show or horse show; also in every public assembly unit where the combustible nature and quantity of contents are, in the opinion of the division marshal in charge of Fire Prevention, hazardous to life and property from fire.

(f) For restrictions on smoking in mercantile occupancies, see Section 193-7.9 of this code.

(g) In every lumberyard or lumber storehouse except in specific locations designated as safe for smoking purposes.

90-92. Standard "No Smoking" signs shall be conspicuously posted in every room, building or premises where smoking is prohibited. A standard "No Smoking" sign shall have a white field with the words "No Smoking" printed in red letters four inches high with one-half inch face.

Miscellaneous Hazards

90-93. Ashes stored inside any non-fireproof building shall be stored only in masonry bins, approved metal ash cans, or steel truck tanks. All ash containers shall be kept at least five feet from combustible material. Ashes shall not be stored inside or outside of any building in wood receptacles, or dumped in contact or in proximity to any combustible material.

90-94. Oily rags and waste shall be kept during the day in approved waste cans of heavy galvanized iron with self-closing covers and shall be removed from the building each night. Such waste cans shall be kept at least two feet away from any combustible wall or partition or exterior window opening.

90-95. Rubbish shall not be allowed to accumulate in any part of any building, nor outside of and adjacent to any buildings, and special care shall be paid to elevator and air shafts, under benches, in closets, in dark and out-of-the-way places around electric machinery, steam pipes and in premises and buildings in which oils are stored or used. All weeds, grass or other growth, when same constitutes a fire hazard, shall be cut down and removed by the owner or occupant of the property.

90-96. Workmen's clothes shall be placed in well ventilated lockers or closets, or shall be hung in the open away from flammable material and where the air will circulate freely about them. Where wooden lockers or closets are permitted, seventy-five percent of the area of the door on such wooden locker or closet shall be open and covered only with wire mesh to provide ventilation and allow inspection of the contents without opening the door of such locker or closet. In oil or grease risks they shall not be allowed in wooden lockers. No oily waste or oily rags shall be permitted in clothes lockers or closets in locker rooms.

Sale of Dangerous Articles

90-97. Except those articles covered by this code, it is prohibited to sell or offer for sale any article which is so highly combustible as to constitute a dangerous risk of fire and an immediate and serious hazard of injury to persons and property taking into consideration the use or uses for which the article is made and designed to service.

Standard Sprinkler Systems

91-1. A standard sprinkler system, for the purpose of this code, is hereby defined as an arrangement of piping installed in a building with outlets distributed approximately uniformly in such a manner that water can be discharged in a spray directly from special outlets, termed heads, for the purpose of extinguishing an incipient fire and protecting the building and its contents, with pumps, tanks and other equipment as necessary to provide an adequate supply of water to the heads.

Every sprinkler system required by this code shall comply with all the requirements hereinafter enumerated for such a system. Fire pumps, filling pumps, air compressors, sprinkler heads, hose and all equipment installed in connection with a standard sprinkler system shall be of a make, type and design which has been tested and approved by and which bears the label of an organization nationally recognized as an authority.

91-2. For the purposes of this chapter, other terms used hereinafter, are hereby defined as follows:

Air compressor. A device for supplying air under pressure to the pressure tanks of a sprinkler system or the cushion tank of a sprinkler system, or to an inside standpipe system or to a dry pipe sprinkler system.

Capacity of tanks. The capacity of tanks is as follows:

1. Gravity tanks. The number of U. S. gallons available to supply the sprinkler system.
2. Compression and pressure tanks. The number of U. S. gallons represented by the total contents both of water and air in the cylinder not including dished ends.

Construction types.

1. Smooth ceiling construction includes:
   a) Mushroom, flat slab, pan type or joister type reinforced concrete.
   b) Continuous smooth bays formed by wood, concrete, or steel beams spaced more than 7½ feet on centers, beams supported by columns, girders or trusses.
   c) Smooth roof or floor decks supported directly on girders or trusses spaced more than 7½ feet on centers.
   d) Smooth ceilings attached to the underside of wood or bar joists.
   e) In b, c, and d above, the roof and floor decks may be noncombustible or combustible. Item b would include Type IIIA construction.
   f) Open web type steel beams regardless of spacing.
2. Beam and girder construction includes noncombustible and combustible roof or floor decks supported by:
   a) Wood beams of 4 inches or greater nominal thickness or concrete or steel beams spaced 3 to 7½ feet on centers and either supported on or framed into girders.
3. Bar joists — Construction employing joists consisting of steel truss-shaped members. This definition includes noncombustible and combustible roof and floor decks supported on bar joists.
4. Wood joist construction refers to wood board or planks on wooden beams spaced less than 3 feet on centers. Wooden beams less than 4 inches nominal thickness spaced more than 3 feet on centers are also considered as wood joist construction.

Filling Pump. A device used to supply water to the gravity or pressure tanks or both, of a sprinkler system.

Fire Area. The entire floor area enclosed within the exterior walls of a building, if not divided into independent areas by fire walls, or the floor area of any such independent area, if so divided.

Fire Pump. A device used for supplying water to a sprinkler system at the pressure required by the system.

Automatically controlled fire pump. One which starts automatically when the pressure in the system drops to a predetermined point and stops automatically when the pressure in the system rises to a predetermined point.

Gravity tank. A wooden or metal container holding water to supply a sprinkler system at gravity pressure.

Pressure maintenance pump. A small centrifugal pump under automatic control used to maintain pressure on the system to avoid frequent operation of the fire pump.

Pressure tank. A metal container holding water to supply a sprinkler system at a pressure other than that due to gravity.

Siamese connection. A two or other multiple inlet fitting installed on the outside of a building and connected to the system main of a sprinkler system for the use of the fire department only, to supply water to the system.

Sprinkler system types:

1. Wet pipe systems—A system employing automatic sprinklers attached to a piping system containing water and connected to a water supply so that water discharges immediately from sprinklers opened by a fire.
2. Dry pipe systems—A system employing automatic sprinklers attached to a piping system containing air under pressure, the release of which from the opening of sprinklers, permits the water pressure to open a valve known as a "dry pipe valve". The water then flows into the piping system and out the opened sprinklers.
3. Pre-action system—A system employing automatic sprinklers attached to a piping system containing air that may or may not be under pressure, with a supplemental heat responsive system of generally more sensitive characteristics than the automatic sprinklers themselves, installed in the same area as the sprinklers; actuation of the heat responsive system, as from a fire, opens a valve known as a pre-action valve which permits water to flow into the sprinkler piping system and to be discharged from any sprinkler that may be open.
4. Deluge systems—A system employing open sprinklers attached to a piping system connected to a water supply through a valve known as a deluge valve which is opened by the operation of a heat responsive system installed in the same areas as the sprinklers. When this valve opens, water flows into the piping system and discharges from all sprinklers attached thereto.
5. Combination dry pipe and pre-action sprinkler system—A system employing automatic sprinklers attached to a piping system containing air under pressure with a supplemental heat responsive system of generally more sensitive characteristics than the automatic sprinklers themselves, installed in the same areas as the sprinklers; operation of the heat responsive system, as from a fire, actuates tripping devices which open "dry pipe valves" simultaneously and without loss of air pressure in the system. Operation of the heat responsive system also opens approved air exhaust valves at the end of the feed main which facilitates the filling of the system with water which usually precedes the opening of sprinklers. The heat responsive system also serves as an automatic fire alarm system.

Tank heater. A device for heating the water in a gravity tank, pressure tank or tank riser to prevent the water in these portions of a sprinkler system from freezing.

Water supply piping in a sprinkler system. The water supply piping from the sources of supply to sprinkler heads. The different sections of the piping are:

1. Branch line. A horizontal pipe which conveys the water from a branch main to the sprinkler heads.
2. Branch main. A horizontal pipe which conveys the water from a system main or a system riser to the branch lines.
3. Pump suction. A pipe which conveys the water from the city main or other sources of supply to a fire pump.
4. System main. The pipe which conveys the water from the tank riser or water supply to the system risers.
5. System riser. A vertical pipe which extends upward through a building and conveys the water supply or system main to the branch lines.
6. Tank riser. The pipe which conveys the water from a gravity or pressure tank to the system main or sprinkler system.

91-3. Before the installation of a sprinkler system required by the provisions of this code, a plan, setting forth all essential details of the sprinkler system, shall be submitted to the Bureau of Fire Prevention. Upon finding that the plan conforms to the requirements of the code and after payment of the sprinkler permit fee hereinafter specified, said plan shall be approved by the Bureau of Fire Prevention.

The fees charged in connection with a sprinkler system shall be as follows:

For the approval of the sprinkler plan and the initial inspection of a sprinkler system required by the provisions of this code, a fee of twelve (12) dollars shall be charged for the first one hundred sprinkler heads or less and an additional six (6) dollars for each additional one hundred sprinkler heads or fraction thereof. For the test of a fire pump used in connection with a sprinkler system, a fee of six (6) dollars for each fifty gallons pumping capacity per minute shall be charged with a minimum fee of sixty (60) dollars; provided, however, that the aforesaid fees shall not be required for any building used solely as a school operated by the Chicago Board of Education or by a religious or charitable organization.

Where a fire pump serves both a standpipe system and a sprinkler system, only one pump fee shall be charged.

91-4. After completing a sprinkler installation, the contractor shall submit to the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention, a written certification that the system has been installed in accordance with the plans approved by the Bureau of Fire Prevention.

91-5. Every standard sprinkler system now existent or which may hereafter be installed, shall be inspected annually under the authority of the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention. Whenever such inspection shows the standard sprinkler system to be in good order and in compliance with this code, the said division marshal shall issue a certificate to that effect, and for each such inspection and certificate a fee of five dollars shall be charged. If a reasonable doubt exists regarding the capability of any component of a standard sprinkler system, the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention may conduct any test outlined in this chapter to determine the capability of that component.

91-6. In case inspection discloses any condition such as defective parts, frozen tanks, closed valves or obstructed heads, which in the opinion of the testing agency would seriously handicap the operation of the sprinkler equipment, the division marshal shall immediately be notified. Notice shall then immediately be sent to the owner or owners, agent or person in control of the building containing such sprinkler systems, to remove or correct the defective condition as set forth in said notice within such time as may be specified by the said division marshal in the notice.

91-7. The following classes of occupancies, where provided with sprinkler systems, shall have such sprinkler systems designed in accordance with the "Light Hazard" classification of the National Fire Protection Association's pamphlet 13 entitled "Standard for the Installation of Sprinkler Systems" 1973 edition.

91-10. The method of testing standard sprinkler systems for initial acceptance purposes shall be as follows:

All portions of each system shall be tested for two hours at a cold water pressure of not less than two hundred pounds if the normal pressure in the system does not exceed one hundred fifty pounds or at a pressure of not less than fifty pounds above the normal pressure, if such normal pressure is more than one hundred fifty pounds and shall show no leaks.

Dry pipe systems, if tested during seasons of the year which will not permit the use of water, may be tested with air under a pressure of not less than fifty pounds.

Brine or other corrosive or toxic chemicals shall not be used for testing.

If the dry pipe valves are of the differential type, they shall be pumped up and allowed to stand twenty-four hours and shall show not more than one and one-half pounds less during that period of time. A working test of each dry pipe valve shall be made before acceptance.

Fire pumps, air compressors, filling pumps and other equipment shall be tested for a period of two hours or such portion of this time as is necessary to show they are of the required capacities. All tests shall be made in the presence of a representative of the Bureau of Fire Prevention or the installing contractor.

Every fire pump shall provide the rated capacity of water at its rated pressure and shall furnish at least 150 per cent of the rated capacity at 65 per cent of its rated pressure.

91-11. The water supply for sprinkler systems shall be taken from one or more of the following sources:

(a) Gravity tanks. Having a capacity sufficient to supply not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of heads in the largest fire area served for a period of not less than twenty minutes. For a system having one source of supply, the bottom of the tank shall be not less than thirty-five feet above the highest sprinkler head connected thereto and the discharge from each sprinkler head shall be calculated as twenty gallons per minute; the minimum capacity of the tank shall be ten thousand gallons. For a system having two sources of supply, the bottom of the tank shall be not less than twenty-five feet above the highest sprinkler head connected thereto, the discharge from each sprinkler head shall be calculated as twenty gallons per minute, and the minimum capacity of the tank shall be ten thousand gallons.

(b) Pressure tanks. Having a capacity of not less than four thousand five hundred gallons and not more than nine thousand gallons each, designed to be two-thirds full of water and one-third full of air at a pressure of not less than seventy-five pounds per square inch. Total water capacity of tanks in gallons shall be calculated as given in the gravity tank capacity section; minimum capacity of each tank shall be four thousand five hundred gallons. The drop from the gravity tank shall be arranged to enter the line from the pressure tank at a level at least thirty-five feet below the bottom of the gravity tank and the gravity tank check valve shall be at this level when both gravity tank and pressure tank are used.

(c) Fire pumps, connected to the city main, having a capacity sufficient to supply not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of heads in the largest fire area. Capacity of a fire pump shall be not less than 500 gallons per minute; however, a 250 gallons per minute sprinkler fire pump supplied by not less than a four-inch connection to the city water main may be used in a school or an institutional unit which does not exceed four (4) stories or fifty-five feet in height and which has less than one hundred (100) sprinkler heads in any sprinkler area.

The discharge from each sprinkler head shall be calculated as twenty gallons per minute. The pressure shall be sufficient to provide fifteen pounds per square inch at the highest head at the required flow.

(d) City mains. 91-30. A dry pipe system shall be permitted only where a wet system is impracticable. If the sprinkler heads in such spaces are twenty-five per cent or less of the total number of sprinkler heads required on any system, only such twenty-five per cent or less shall be on the dry system and the remainder shall be on a wet system.

The dry pipe system shall be isolated from the water supplies, (or from the wet portion of the system, if a combined wet and dry pipe system) by a dry pipe valve located at an accessible point as near as practicable to the dry system, adequately protected against mechanical injury and against freezing.

Where two or more dry pipe valves are used, systems should be divided such that all of any floor is not protected by the same dry pipe sprinkler system.

Standard Inside Standpipe Systems

91-53. A standard inside standpipe system, for the purposes of this code, is hereby defined as an arrangement of piping installed in a building with outlets located in such a manner that water can be discharged in streams through hose attached to such hose outlets, for the purpose of extinguishing a fire and so protecting the building and its contents, with pumps, tanks and other equipment necessary to provide an adequate supply of water to the house outlets. Every inside standpipe system required by this code shall comply with all the requirements hereinafter enumerated for such a system. Fire pumps, air compressors, hose and all other equipment installed in connection with a standard inside standpipe system, except for pressure maintenance pumps, shall be of a make, type and design which has been tested and approved by and which bears the label of an organization nationally recognized as an authority.

91.53.1. Standard inside standpipe systems complying with the requirements of Sections 91-53 to 91-100 shall be provided in all buildings exceeding 80 feet in height with the exceptions listed in Section 64-12(d) of this code.

91-54. For the purposes of this chapter, other terms used hereinafter are hereby defined as follows:

Air compressor. A device for supplying air under pressure to the cushion tank of an inside standpipe system.

Fire area. The entire floor area enclosed within the exterior walls of a building, if not divided into independent areas by fire walls, or the floor area of any such independent area, if so divided.

Fire pump. A device used for supplying water to an inside standpipe system at the pressure required by the system.

(1) Automatically controlled. An automatically controlled fire pump is one which starts automatically when the pressure in the system drops to a predetermined point and stops automatically when the pressure in the system rises to a predetermined point.

Pressure maintenance pump. A small centrifugal pump under automatic control used to maintain pressure on the system to avoid frequent operation of the fire pump.

Siamese connection. A two or other multiple inlet fitting installed on the outside of a building and connected to the standpipe main of an inside standpipe system for the use of the fire department only, to supply water to the system.

Water supply piping in an inside standpipe system. The water supply piping from the source of supply to hose outlets. The sections of the piping are:

(1) Pump suction. The pipe which conveys the water from the city main or other source of supply to the fire pump.

(2) Standpipe main. The pipe which conveys the water from the fire pump to the standpipe risers.

(3) Standpipe risers, or standpipe. A vertical pipe which extends upward through a building and conveys the water from the standpipe main to the hose outlets.

91-55. Before the installation of an inside standpipe system required by the provisions of the code, a plan, setting forth all essential details of the inside standpipe system, shall be submitted to the Bureau of Fire Prevention. Upon finding that the plan conforms to the requirements of the code and after payment of standpipe permit fees hereinafter specified, said plan shall be approved by the Bureau of Fire Prevention.

The fees charged in connection with an inside standpipe system shall be as follows:

For the approval of the standpipe plan and the initial inspection of the inside standpipe system required by the provision of this code, a fee of twelve (12) dollars shall be charged for the first standpipe riser and six (6) dollars for each additional standpipe riser. For the test of a fire pump used in connection with an inside standpipe system, a fee of six (6) dollars for each unit of pumping capacity of fifty gallons per minute or fraction thereof shall be charged with a minimum permit fee of sixty (60) dollars.

91-56. After completing a standpipe system installation, the contractor shall submit to the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention, a written certification that the system has been installed in accordance with the plans approved by the Bureau of Fire Prevention.

91-57. Inside standpipe systems may be:

(a) Wet, in which the pipes are kept filled with water.

(b) Dry, in which a portion of the piping nearest the hose outlets normally is kept filled with air and so arranged that the operation of an outlet will automatically admit water to the system. Dry systems shall be used only when a wet system is impracticable on account of a deficiency of heat in the area in which piping is located.

91-58. The water supply for inside standpipe systems shall be taken from a source sufficient to provide a minimum pressure of 65 pounds per square inch with 500 gallons per minute flowing at the highest hose outlet for a period of at least one half hour. The total water supply capacity shall be not less than 500 gallons per minute for the first standpipe and 250 gallons per minute for each additional standpipe riser, but no standpipe system need have a capacity greater than 1,500 gallons per minute.

91-59. Where fire pumps are used to meet the water supply requirements, the minimum capacity of such pumps shall be 500 gallons per minute at a pressure of not less than 100 pounds per square inch. However, no one pump need have a capacity of more than 1,500 gallons per minute.

91-60. An inside standpipe system and a sprinkler system may be connected to the same water supply; provided, however, the water supply is of sufficient capacity for the required capacity of the sprinkler system and one half the required standpipe capacity. It shall provide sufficient pressure for the more severe demands.

91-61. Pumps and auxiliary equipment, including starters, required to form complete pumping units shall be of the centrifugal type designed and developed for this class of service and listed by a national testing laboratory.

In each case, the pump shall be selected to meet the conditions surrounding the installation and installed in accordance with the specification in N.F.P.A. 20, entitled "Standard for the Installation of Centrifugal Fire Pumps", published by the National Fire Protection Association in 1973, except as may be provided below.

91-62. If the supply is taken from a city main, the pumping unit shall be designed to develop its full capacity at its rated pressure; provided, however, that if it is the source of supply for an upper standpipe system in a building having multiple systems, it may take its suction from the discharge of the fire pump for the system immediately below, but all piping shall be arranged so that pressure from the higher pressure system cannot be delivered to the lower pressure system.

91-63. Pumps shall be designed for automatic operation, with a time delay device set for one minute for each 10 horsepower of motor rating, but not to exceed seven minutes, continuous operation after each start provided and a separate automatically controlled centrifugal pressure maintenance pump to avoid too frequent starting and stopping operations of the fire pump.

91-64. All pressure controlling and pressure limiting devices installed in connection with a fire pump shall be designed for operation over a minimum range of 0 to 300 pounds per square inch.

91-65. The suction pipe size to a fire pump shall be six inches for 500 and 750 gallons per minute pumps and eight inches for 1000 and 1500 gallons per minute pumps. This pipe shall be directly connected to the city main or suction source free from any meter (except a detector meter installed in a by-pass around a check valve). The city connection shall be increased two inches if used for both domestic consumption and fire protection demands when the domestic service exceeds two inches.

91-66. Diesel or natural gas driven electric generators or direct diesel or natural gas drive shall be installed on fire pumps directly serving floors located over 500 feet high.

91-67. The piping system shall consist of mains from the sources of supply, risers, branches and other piping to the hose outlets; it shall include the connection from the city main or other source to the suction of the pump. In addition to the source of supply inside of the building, there shall be one or more pumper or siamese connections at points outside the building directly connected to the main for the use of the city fire department. The standpipe main from the source of supply shall be located in the lowest story of the building and shall be completely looped, without dead ends, when the building height exceeds 500 feet.

91-68. All piping (mains, risers and branches) shall be of wrought iron or mild steel, black or galvanized or ductile iron. Where the pressure is not more than 300 pounds, pipe may be standard or extra heavy weight; where the pressure is more than 300 pounds, the pipe shall be approved for that pressure. All fittings in wrought iron or mild steel pipe shall be black or galvanized; in main piping 2½ inches and larger, at changes in direction they shall be long radius pattern and flanged in all water supplies around pumping equipment at all changes of direction in the mains; at the base of each standpipe riser and at all points where branches are taken from the mains. They shall be standard or extra heavy weight where the pressure in the system is not more than 175 pounds; extra heavy cast iron, cast steel or ductile iron where the pressure is more than 175 pounds and not more than 400 pounds and carbon steel or ductile iron where the pressure is more than 400 pounds.

The 2½ inch hose valves for the use of the fire department, as hereinbefore prescribed, shall be of the gate or angle type and shall be located at such a height that the center line of the valve shall be not less than three feet nor more than six feet above the floor and so installed that the water will flow through the valve without kinking or bending the hose. Where the pressure is not greater than 300 pounds, the valve, except hand wheel, shall be of extra heavy brass. Hand wheels on all 2½ inch hose valves shall be of solid construction of malleable iron, cast iron, brass or bronze and shall be not less than five inches in diameter. Each 2½ inch outlet shall be provided with a lugged cap to protect the threads of the valve, attached to the valve by a chain not less than six inches long.

91-76. A 1½ inch hose connection and valve shall be provided adjacent to each fire department connection, except at the connection above the roof if this is exposed to freezing.

91-77. The 1½ inch hose valve shall be of the gate or angle type. Where the pressure is not greater than 300 pounds the entire valve, except hand wheel, shall be of brass of standard or extra heavy weight; where the pressure is greater than 300 pounds, the valve, except hand wheel, shall be of extra heavy brass. Hand wheels shall be of cast or malleable iron, brass or bronze.

91-78. There shall be attached to each 1½ inch hose valve not more than 100 feet of 1½ inch approved fire hose if the control valves is located in a properly enclosed stairwell and 75 feet if not, provided with an approved nozzle; the minimum length of hose permitted with one pair of couplings shall be 50 feet. This hose shall be hung on a semi-automatic rack so constructed that the hose can be quickly laid without having it catch in the rack or fall to the floor, that the water will be held back by the hose when on the rack, and that one person can operate the rack which shall swing freely in the direction of the pull and means for holding the nozzle shall be arranged so that it can be easily removed. Racks shall be installed in a suitable cabinet or shall have a cover which will protect the hose from injury, from moisture, dust and other cause.

91-79. Where the pressure at nozzles is more than 65 pounds per square inch, the 1½ inch hose valve shall be provided with a device or disc either to limit the pressure to 65 pounds or to restrict the flow, so that the nozzle can be safely handled by one man.

91-80. Connections for domestic supply shall not be taken from any part of the inside standpipe piping.

91-81. An interior standpipe system required in a building, the top floor of which is more than 275 feet above grade, exclusive of space used for sprinkler, elevator, ventilation and other building machinery, shall be separated into two or more systems, each of which shall include a fire pump, pressure maintenance pump, and all other equipment and piping necessary for a complete inside standpipe installation. The lowest system shall serve the portion up to and including the story the floor of which is 275 feet or less above grade. Above this point systems shall be provided to serve zones of not more than 20 stories each.

91-82. In a building having a top floor which is more than 275 feet above grade, individual zones, as required by this code, shall be supplied by two or more separate risers from the zone fire pump located in the lowest story of the building, known as an express riser, except that the number of express risers shall not exceed the number of risers serving that zone; or by individual fire pumps located on the lowest floor of each zone taking suction under head from a tank automatically filled by two or more risers from the adjacent lower zone. Such a tank shall have a capacity sufficient to supply the largest pump in the zone at its rated capacity for at least 30 minutes but not less than 10,000 gallons.

91-83. At least one siamese pumper connection shall be provided on each street exposure to a limit of two street exposures, except that one siamese pumper connection will be permitted in the case of two adjacent street exposures whose combined length is not greater than 250 feet. If any exposure is more than 250 feet long, there shall be two siamese connections for such exposure no closer than 200 feet apart; however, no one building need have more than two siamese connections for an inside standpipe system. All siamese connections shall be located not less than 18 inches nor more than five feet above grade at the building line. Hose threads shall fit the couplings of the city fire department; they shall be provided with caps securely attached to the connection.

91-84. Each siamese pumper connection shall be connected direct to the system through a four inch pipe with a straightway or silent type check valve in the connection; there shall be no other valves in the pipe connection. Each connection shall be drained between the check valve and the outside hose coupling.

91-85. Where the inside standpipe system has a single riser, the siamese connection shall be connected on the system side of the gate valve in the riser. Where the system has two or more risers, the siamese connections shall be connected on the supply side of the gate valve so that with any riser shut-off the supply will be into the remaining risers. All piping shall be arranged to connect into the system by the most direct route as required by this code.

At each siamese connection, there shall be provided a flat square metallic plate attached to the siamese connection or the building near the connection on which shall be placed the word "STANDPIPE" if there is a single system, or the words "LOW LEVEL STANDPIPE: BASEMENT (OR SUB-BASEMENT): TO FLOOR" or "HIGH LEVEL STANDPIPE: FLOOR TO FLOOR" or other suitable marking if there is more than one system.

91-86. All parts of the system shall be provided with gate valves so that any portion can be taken out of service for repairs or in emergency without interfering with the operation of the remainder of the system. Each system shall be provided with a gate valve so located as to control all sources of water supply except siamese connections. All valves in connections to water supply and from main to risers shall be outside screw and yoke pattern or other indicating type.

Check valves shall be installed in all sources of water supply including both suction and discharge side of the fire pump; they shall be straightway pattern or silent type installed in horizontal piping. A gate valve shall be installed on each side of each check valve unless otherwise noted.

Gate valves and check valves more than 2½ inches in diameter shall meet the following requirements:

(b) Where the pressure exceeds 300 pounds but does not exceed 400 pounds, all valves shall be extra heavy brass, extra heavy cast iron or extra heavy steel.

(c) Where the pressure exceeds 400 pounds, all valves shall be of special material designed to withstand the pressure to which they are subjected.

(d) All component parts of valves shall be of dimensions suitable for the material of which they are constructed and designed for the required pressure.

A diagram drawn to scale showing the city connection, fire pump, siamese connections, standpipe main, risers and all valves shall be framed behind glass and permanently posted in a conspicuous place on the fire pump control panel.

Gate valves controlling water supplies for main and risers shall be located where readily accessible; valves which are not within easy reach from the floor level shall be rendered accessible by permanent iron ladders or other suitable construction.

All gate valves in mains and risers shall be secured open; they shall be plainly marked to indicate the area controlled.

91-87. If the fire pump is steam driven, a connection shall be made directly from the main steam header at the boilers to the pump, with valve at the header; a presure regulator governor shall be installed in a by-pass around the main valve in the steam supply to the pump.

91-88. Each system supplied by a fire pump shall be provided with a discharge test manifold or wall hydrant having one 2½ inch individually valved hose connection for each 250 gpm of rated pump capacity. The discharge test manifold should be so located that water can be discharged to a safe area with not more than 100 feet of hose attached.

91-89. There shall be provided in the discharge side of each fire pump a spring pressure indicating gauge with indications from zero to double the working pressure of the system. A suitable compound pressure and vacuum indicating gauge shall also be provided near each fire pump.

The dry pipe system shall be isolated from the water supply, or from the wet portion of the system, if a combined wet and dry pipe system, by one or more dry pipe valves located at accessible points as near as practicable to the dry system, adequately protected against mechanical injury and against freezing; piping shall be arranged so that each standpipe riser larger than six inches shall be provided with an independent dry pipe valve.

The valves shall automatically control the flow of water; they shall be constructed and installed so that under normal conditions, the portion of the piping in unheated spaces will remain dry. The operation of a hose valve will permit water to flow into the piping to supply water at the hose valve.

An instruction sheet giving full directions for the maintenance and operation of the dry pipe valve and the safe minimum and maximum air pressure to be maintained on the dry pipe valve shall be framed behind glass and permanently posted in a conspicuous place near each dry pipe valve.

91-93. For all buildings for which there is required a system of standpipes, there shall be installed during construction, a system of piping which will protect the building during this period. If the building is over 300 feet high and fire pumps are required, they shall be installed and in service. This may be a part of the permanent installation or may be an independent temporary system. If a temporary system, it shall consist of a main to which shall be connected not less than one half the number of risers required for the permanent system and supplied through not less than one half the number of siamese connections located where easily accessible with a check valve at each siamese and risers carried up through the building provided with 2½ inch valves with fire department thread located in each story. These connections shall be accessible and protected with non-corrodible lugged caps attached to the riser with a chain not less than eight inches long. Outlets shall be in accessible locations and so that hose can be attached without kinking or bending.

In the installation of the standpipe risers, the top openings at no time shall be more than two stories below the top of the main structural supports of the building; risers shall be capped and kept closed at the top except that there shall be a pipe not less than one inch in diameter with no valve other than a check valve installed at the top of each riser to permit water to pass out of the same; the discharge of this pipe shall be so located that it will not cause damage to the building in process or construction or any adjacent building.

91-94. In all buildings or structures which are being reduced in height, torn down, wrecked or demolished and which are equipped with inside standpipe systems, the work of demolition shall proceed in such a manner that the systems will be maintained in an operative condition with the top of the risers not more than two stories below the top of the main structural supports of the building, or until the structural supports have reached a height of less than 40 feet above the street grade.

Siamese connections shall not be removed until the lowest section of the risers have been removed.

91-95. Each standpipe shall be provided with an alarm valve or flow indicating device connected to operate a local alarm sounding device inside the main lobby, in the boiler room, ring an outside bell and telephone switchboard room where provided.

91-96. Each fire pump shall be given an acceptance test for one hour and shall deliver its rated capacity at the required speed and pressure, during not less than thirty minutes of this test period, it shall deliver a 50 per cent overload. It shall not cause the bearings in the pump or on its motor, engine or turbine to become excessively heated. On electric driven fire pumps, there shall be no increase in the temperature of the electric wiring, electric windings on the motor and electric current carrying devices on the control panel other than as noted on the ratings of the various equipment.

91-97. An annual test shall be made of each fire pump during which time water shall be discharged from the highest hose outlet of each riser for a period of at least five minutes and each fire pump shall deliver its rated capacity at its rated pressure through a test manifold or wall hydrant for a period of at least 15 minutes.

91-98. It shall be the duty of the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention to cause an inspection to be made of all standpipe systems at least once every six months. In case such inspection discloses any violations of or variation from the requirements of this ordinance, or any defective conditions, which would handicap the operation of the standpipe system, notice shall be sent to the owner or agent in control of the building containing such standpipe system to remove or correct such defective conditions within such time as shall be set forth by the said notice. For every such semi-annual inspection, it shall be the duty of the owner to pay to the city collector an inspection fee of five dollars.

91-99. The provisions of Sections 91-53 to 91-99, both inclusive, shall apply to existing buildings including pre-ordinance buildings and buildings hereafter constructed but no existing building shall be required to make any alteration in its standard inside standpipe system, if originally installed in accordance with approved plans and permit, by reason of amendments to this code adopted after passage of this ordinance.

91-100. Existing buildings which required standpipes under Section 64-8(d) only, shall use the following design requirement to comply with this code:

1. Such building is equipped with one 4 inch inside standpipe riser where the ground area of the building does not exceed 20,000 square feet and an additional 4 inch inside standpipe riser where the ground area of the building is over 20,000 square feet.

2. Each such standpipe riser is equipped, in the basement and on each floor level, with a 1½ inch connection with 75 feet of hose attached, and also a 2½ inch valve and connection provided with standard Chicago Fire Department thread.

3. In such buildings, equipped throughout with an approved system of automatic sprinklers, sprinkler risers, which are not less than four inches in diameter, may be used in lieu of inside standpipe risers.

4. Such building is equipped with a siamese pumper connection.

5. The standpipe or sprinkler risers are maintained wet at all times.

6. The piping, fittings and equipment used in connection with such risers shall be capable of withstanding the water pressure required for fire extinguishment.

7. The location and equipment of such risers are approved by the division marshal in charge of Fire Prevention.

Standard Fire Alarm System

91-101. The words "standard fire alarm system" where used in this code, are hereby defined to mean a manually operated fire alarm system equipped with automatic detectors, if required, as hereinafter defined. Such system shall be installed in a building for the purpose of notifying the occupants and/or employees of said building of conditions due to fire or other causes which necessitate that the building be vacated immediately by the occupants. All equipment and devices used in the installation of such a system shall be tested by and bear the label of approval of a nationally recognized testing laboratory acceptable to the division marshal in charge of fire prevention and the Bureau of Electrical Inspection. The workmanship, equipment and quality of installation shall conform to the electrical requirements of Chapter 88 of the Municipal Code of Chicago.

91-101.1. Standard fire alarm systems complying with the requirements of Sections 91-101 to 91-129, both inclusive, shall be provided in the occupancies described in Sections 64-10 to 64-14 both inclusive of this code.

91-102. As used in this chapter, an "automatic fire detection system" means a system using automatic detection devices or assemblies to activate alarm sounding devices.

"Automatic detector" means a device or assembly which operates upon either an increase in temperature, the sensing of an abnormal amount of smoke or combustion products, or the sensing of a flame and activates the alarm sounding devices.

"Zoned type fire alarm system" when used in connection with fire alarm or fire detection systems means a system having two or more separate, distinct, supervised alarm sending circuits serving separate areas of a building.

"Annunciator" means a visual device, which must be manually reset, indicating the particular zone on which an alarm sending station or automatic detector has operated and indicate the location of the zone.

"General alarm" means an alarm sounded on all alarm-sounding devices throughout the building.

A "pre-signal alarm" is an alarm sounded on the pre-signal alarm-sounding devices only.

91-103. After completing a fire alarm system installation, the contractor shall submit to the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention, a written certification that the system has been installed in accordance with the plans approved by the Bureau of Fire Prevention.

91-104. All fire alarm fire detection systems shall be divided into two classes as follows:

Class I —Non-coded, closed circuit, general alarm systems.

Class II—Coded, closed circuit, pre-signal and general alarm systems.

91-105. A Class I standard fire alarm system shall be a non-coded closed circuit fire alarm system which shall be so installed and arranged that the operation of an alarm-sending station will automatically actuate all signaling devices and sound a continuous general alarm throughout the building until the alarm-sending station has been restored to its original condition.

91-106. A Class II standard fire alarm system shall be coded, closed circuit, pre-signal fire alarm system which shall be so installed and arranged that the initial operation of an alarm-sending station will sound, at least four times, the code of that alarm-sending station on the pre-signal alarm-sounding devices only. Pre-signal alarm-sounding devices shall be installed not to alert all the occupants of the building but to notify those in authority and certain occupants that a fire or emergency exists in the building. Such pre-signal alarm-sounding devices shall be located at the telephone switchboard, in the engine room, general offices and in such other places in the building where the members of the fire brigade, employees or attendants work or assemble. Every alarm-sending station of a Class II standard fire alarm system shall be equipped so that a coded, general alarm can be sounded by the use of keys, plugs or similar devices which shall, at all times, be available to persons with authority to sound a general alarm. In every building where a Class II standard fire alarm system is installed there shall be on duty at all times two adults charged with the responsibility of sounding a general alarm.

91-107. For automatic fire detector requirements, see Chapter 64 of this code.

91-108. Alarm sounding devices shall be provided of such type and shall be so distributed that they can be heard clearly throughout the building except on systems serving only a Type III school in a building not otherwise requiring a system in which case they may be located only in the spaces occupied by the Type III school. At least one such sounding device shall be installed on each floor and in the basement. Alarm sounding devices shall consist of approved bells, gongs, whistles, horns or chimes. All alarm sounding devices shall be distinguished by pitch and quality from all other sound devices.

When pre-signal alarm sounding devices are installed in patient areas of hospitals and nursing homes, they shall be of such a type so as to be unidentifiable to patients as a fire alarm. The lowest part of all alarm sounding devices, except trouble bell, shall be located at least eight feet above the floor.

91-109. Visual alarm devices may be used to supplement the sounding alarm devices but shall not be installed as substitutes for sounding alarm devices in a building for the deaf; visual alarm devices shall be required in addition to sounding alarm devices. All visual alarm devices shall operate when an alarm is sounded.

91-110. Manual alarm sending stations shall be so located that from any part of the building not more than one hundred feet will have to be traversed to reach an alarm sending station. There shall be at least one such alarm sending station on each floor and in each basement.

91-111. Alarm sending stations shall be located in the natural path of exit in a readily accessible location except in schools where the alarm sending station may be located inside classrooms provided a sign with 6 inch high letters is mounted in the corridor above the door to the classroom indicating the location of the sending station, and the classroom door has a break-away glass panel with dimensions not less than 12" on a side so located that the classroom door can be unlocked without a key.

91-112. The manner of operation of alarm sending stations shall be standardized throughout each system and shall be clearly described in instructions which shall be permanently attached to each alarm sending station. Every alarm sending station shall be so installed and equipped that it can be tested without sounding a general alarm.

91-113. In a mental or penal institution, alarm sending stations may, with the approval of the division marshal in charge of fire prevention, be of the type requiring a key to activate the station; provided, however, the corridor of the area served by such a station has an automatic fire detection system. Such stations shall be limited to those areas of these occupancies which are accessible to unattended residents.

91-113.1. Alarm sending stations shall be required on fire alarm systems serving only a Type III school in a building not otherwise requiring a system on the basis of one for every 4,000 square feet of floor area or fraction thereof over 4,000 square feet.

91-114. Each alarm sending station shall be tested at least once each month. Every standard fire alarm system shall be tested at least once a year. This test shall include the operation of all alarm sounding devices and connections to city fire alarm boxes where such a connection is required by this code.

91-115. Where automatic fire detectors are required by this code in occupancies also required to have a standard fire alarm system, activation of either the automatic fire detectors or the manual sending station shall cause a general alarm to be sounded.

91-116. A zoned type fire alarm system, with zones not exceeding 20,000 square feet or serving more than one floor, shall be required under any one of the following conditions:

(a) When the building exceeds four stories in height.

(b) When any side of the building is 200 feet or more in length.

(c) When the system has more than eight manual alarm sending stations.

(d) When more than ten automatic detectors are connected to the standard fire alarm system.

(e) When the ground floor area of the building exceeds 20,000 square feet.

91-117. An annunciator shall be required on any system having more than one zone.

91-118. An annunciator, where required by this code, shall be placed in a conspicuous location either inside or outside of and within 20 feet of the main entrance to the building. The annunciator shall indicate the zone from which an alarm has originated by means of a translucent rectangle which is electrically illuminated from behind when an alarm is received from the zone. The zone shall be identified by opaque lettering on the rectangular indicator which describes the location of the zone within the building. The lettering shall not be less than one quarter inch (¼") in height. Provided however, that the annunciator may indicate by means of a diagram of the building with the zones identified by a light on the diagram corresponding to the area served by the zone. The diagram used must meet with the approval of the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention.

A separate indicator shall be provided for each zone. When a sprinkler system is also installed in a building requiring a fire alarm annunciator, sprinkler waterflow alarms shall be provided with an indicator on the annunciator separate from other zones. Indication on the annunciator shall be continuous until manually reset.

91-119. Instruction cards describing in detail the code employed and specifying the exit or exits to be used in any emergency shall be posted in conspicuous locations in buildings equipped with a Class II standard fire alarm system as follows:

(a) In institutional buildings: At each sending station, at the head nurse's desk on each floor, at the telephone switchboard, in the general office, engine room and in rooms where attendants work or assemble.

(b) In schools: At each sending station, in the auditorium, engine room and general office.

(c) In hotels and dormitories: At each sending station at the switchboard, in the office, engine room, work rooms and in public assembly rooms.

91-120. The supervising circuit shall be provided with a trouble bell arranged to ring continuously in case of energy failure, an open circuit or a ground in the fire alarm circuit. The trouble bell shall be located so that, in the opinion of the division marshal in charge of fire prevention, it will be within audible range of some responsible person in the building. The trouble bell circuit shall be provided with a silencing switch in such a manner that the act of silencing the bell by operation of the switch automatically and positively transfers the trouble bell to a red lamp near the trouble bell. Immediately adjoining each trouble bell, there shall be a sign clearly identifying it as a trouble bell. Where a standard fire alarm system has more than one trouble bell, each identification sign required by this section shall also indicate the portion of the system connected to each bell.

91-121. A city fire alarm box shall be located within a distance of 100 feet from the principal entrance of every institutional building or theater and every assembly unit other than a theater having a capacity of more than 1,000 persons, and every existing or pre-ordinance building and every building thereafter erected, two stories or more in height, used in whole or in part as a Type I school with 100 or more occupants or used in whole as a Type II school. The fire alarm systems provided for herein shall be directly connected to the city fire alarm box.

91-122. Only those standard fire alarm systems in occupancies listed in Section 91-121 shall be directly connected to a city fire alarm box except that the height and population limits need not apply.

91-123. The standard fire alarm system of not more than one building shall be directly connected to any one city fire alarm box. This requirement shall not apply to any building which was permitted to be connected to a common city fire alarm box prior to July 1, 1971.

91-124. In lieu of providing a city fire alarm box with a direct connection from the building fire alarm system to the city fire alarm box, as required in Section 91-121, an Underwriters' Laboratories listed central station supervisory service may be connected to the building fire alarm system. Where such a service is used, the division marshal shall be furnished with a current certificate of contract for the central station service and be notified within 24 hours of discontinuance of the service.

91-125. There shall be installed and maintained in every theater inter-communicating systems of telephones with stations on each floor of public space, on each side of the stage, in the engine room and boiler room, in the manager's office, and in the projection room.

91-126. It shall be the duty of every owner, manager or person in control of any church, school, theater, hospital, hotel, department store, public assembly unit, institutional building, or building used for a nursery, hospital, infirmary, asylum, or home for aged, blind, insane or dependent persons, to summon the Chicago Fire Department immediately upon the discovery of fire in any such building.

91-127. Any fire alarm system which fails to function properly shall be repaired and placed in good operating condition within 24 hours.

91-128. If within any 48 hour period the operation of any automatic fire detector causes two or more false alarms on a fire alarm system directly connected to a city fire alarm box, the property owner or tenant shall be required to have the system adjusted, repaired or replaced within 24 hours.

91-129. Before any work is started on the installation, alteration or extension of any fire alarm system, required by Chapter 64 of this code, complete plans and specifications of the proposed installation shall be submitted to the Bureau of Fire Prevention and to the Bureau of Electrical Inspection for examination and approval. All installations, alterations or extensions of such fire alarm systems shall comply with all of the provisions of Sections 88-725.45 and 88-725.46 of this code. The provisions of Sections 91-101 to 91-129, both inclusive, shall apply to existing buildings including pre-ordinance buildings and buildings hereafter constructed.

SECTION 5. The Municipal Code of Chicago, Chapter 92 is hereby amended by deleting the present Chapter 92 in its entirety and substituting therefor a new Chapter 92, containing Sections 92-1 through 92-110, as follows:

92-2. Definitions

Corrosive liquid—A liquid such as hydrochloric acid, nitric acid, sulphuric acid, hydrofluoric acid or any other corrosive acid, or other corrosive liquids, which when in contact with living tissue, will immediately cause severe damage of such tissue by chemical action; or in case of leakage will materially damage or destroy other containers or hazardous commodities by chemical action and cause the release of their contents; or are liable to cause a fire when in contact with organic matter or with certain chemicals.

Corrosive liquid storage building—A building or part of a building, designed, intended or used for no purposes other than that of the storage of corrosive liquids.

Hazardous chemical—A chemical such as aluminum powder, calcium carbide, calcium phosphide, metallic potassium, metallic sodium, phosphorus, sodium peroxide or any other chemical or material which, as determined by the committee on standards and test will in fact create an equally or more serious flame hazard or an equally or more serious explosion hazard, or an equally or more serious flame and explosion hazard when coming in contact with water or moisture or any solid substance other than one classified as an explosive which is liable to cause fires through friction, through spontaneous chemical changes or as a result of retained heat from manufacturing or processing.

Hazardous chemical room—A room designed, intended or used for the purposes of storing or using of hazardous chemicals.

Hazardous chemical storage building—A building, or part of a building, designed, intended or used for no purpose other than that of the storage of any hazardous chemical.

Highly toxic materials—Materials so toxic to man as to afford an unusual hazard to life and health during fire fighting operations. Such materials as parathion, TEEP (tetraethyl phosphate), HETP (hexaethyl tetra phosphate) and similar insecticides or pesticides. Any material classed as Poison "A" or Poison "B" by the Federal Department of Transportation shall be considered highly toxic by this code.

Oxidizing materials—Chlorates, permanganates, inorganic peroxides or nitrates, and other substances which readily yield free oxygen when heated.

Potentially explosive chemicals—Any chemical substance, other than one defined as an explosive or blasting agent, which has a tendency to be unstable and which can be exploded by heat or shock or a combination thereof. Among others, potentially explosive chemicals shall include organic peroxides, nitromethane, ammonium nitrate and others which have an equal or greater potential explosive hazard.

Radioactive materials—Any material or combination of materials that spontaneously emits ionizing radiation.

Sealed source—A quantity of radiation so enclosed as to prevent the escape of any radioactive materials but at the same time permitting radiation to come out for use.

Smoke house—A building, or part of a building, designed, intended or used for no purpose other than that of smoking meats or fish.

Smoke room—An enclosure designed, intended or used for the smoking of meats or fish, located within any building other than a smoke house.

92-3. Any material classed as a corrosive liquid or oxidizing material by the Federal Department of Transportation shall be considered as a corrosive liquid or oxidizing material by this code.

Hazardous Chemicals

92-4. No hazardous chemicals, as defined in Section 129.1-29, shall be used for any purpose in any room other than a hazardous chemical room constructed as required.

It shall be unlawful to store in any building more than ten pounds of metallic potassium, metallic sodium, phosphorous or sodium peroxide, or more than twenty pounds of aluminum powder or calcium phosphide, or more than six hundred pounds of calcium carbide or more of any other such chemical or material than is determined by the Fire Prevention Bureau to be a safe limits except in a hazardous chemical storage building or vault constructed as required in Chapter 92 of this code. If stored in a vault, such chemicals shall be stored upon a platform or upon a shelf or shelves not less than one foot six inches above the floor. No such chemical or material shall be stored or used in any building room or vault now existing or hereafter designed, erected, altered or converted, which is equipped with a sprinkler system or sprinkler heads.

92-5. Type IA, IB, IC, II, IIIA, IIIB or IIIC construction shall be used for any hazardous chemical storage building. Every such building of Type IIIA construction shall be not more than two stories in height. Every such building of Type IIIB or IIIC construction shall not be more than one story in height and shall have no mezzanine. Every such building of any type of construction shall be without any basement except a basement provided and used solely for the purpose of a heating plant for the building which shall be separated from every other part of the building by a fire wall and shall have no doorway, window or other opening between such space and any other part of the building. Every such building shall be so constructed as to be dry.

92-6. Every building hereafter designed, erected, altered or converted for the purpose of storing more of any hazardous chemical than the limited quantity provided for such chemical in Section 92-4 shall be isolated by a safety clearance of not less than one hundred feet except as otherwise provided by this section.

Class IA, IB or IC Construction. Every such hazardous chemical building of Type IA, IB or IC construction shall be isolated from any other building on the same premises by a safety clearance of not less than ten feet; provided, however, that such safety clearance shall not be required for any such building having no openings within ten feet of any openings in any other wall or building on the same premises, or for any such building which is separated from any adjoining buildings by a fire wall without openings therein.

Types II, IIIA, IIIB or IIIC Construction. Every such hazardous chemical building of Type II, IIIA, IIIB or IIIC construction shall be isolated from any other building on the same premises by a safety clearance of not less than twenty feet; provided, however, that such safety clearance will not be required for any such building having no openings within ten feet of any openings in any other wall or building on the same premises or for any such building which is separated from any adjoining building by a fire wall without openings therein.

92-7. No hazardous chemical room or storage building shall have a floor area of more than six hundred square feet.

92-8. Every hazardous chemical room shall have means of natural ventilation or vent flues as required by Section 92-21 for material heating rooms; provided, however, that the combined area of ventilating openings which shall have closures arranged to open automatically in case of explosion or fire shall be not less than five per cent of the total wall area of the room.

92-9. No sprinkler system shall be permitted in any hazardous chemical room or in any hazardous chemical storage building, where the chemical has the ability to react with water to produce substances or violent chemical reactions which increase the hazard. When the presence of water will not add to the hazard, a standard sprinkler system shall be required in such hazardous chemical room or building as directed in Chapter 64 of this code.

92-10. Every hazardous chemical room and every hazardous chemical storage building shall have the words "Hazardous Chemicals—Use No Water" painted in a conspicuous position on the outside of every entrance door thereto. Such wording shall be in plainly legible bright red letters on a white background with letters not less than six inches high and with the principal strokes thereof not less than three-fourths inch in width.

92-11. No hazardous chemical storage building shall be located nearer than one hundred feet to any building in which there is an institutional, assembly or open air assembly unit, except as otherwise provided.

92-12. The storage and handling of hazardous chemicals shall comply with the following requirements:

(1) Quantities in excess of the limits specified in Section 92-4 or in excess of one day's supply shall be stored or used in rooms or buildings complying with the requirements herein. Whenever one day's supply exceeds the amount specified in Section 92-4, a notarized letter from the user stating the amount used in one day shall be filed with the Bureau of Fire Prevention. Upon any change in that amount, the Bureau of Fire Prevention shall be notified within 24 hours.

(2) All shelving used in connection with the storage of such hazardous chemicals shall be of substantial non-combustible construction.

(3) No other combustible material or flammable liquids shall be permitted in any such room.

(4) Defective containers which permit leakage or spillage shall be disposed of or repaired in an approved manner. No spilled materials shall be allowed to accumulate on floors or shelves.

(5) Signs having a white field with red letters 4 inches high and a one-half inch stroke shall be conspicuously posted. Such sign shall read "Hazardous Chemicals—Keep Fire Away."

92-13. Every hazardous chemical room, other than a vault for the storage of a hazardous chemical, shall be separated from all other parts of the building by a four hour fire separation, with no window or other opening, except a doorway or doorways between such vault and any other part of a building protected with a single Class A fire door installed in accordance with Chapter 65.

92-14. Every vault for the storage of hazardous chemicals shall be a dry, waterproof, standard fireproof vault. No such vault shall be located in any floor or building in which it is prohibited under Section 60-8.

92-14.1. Tanks, which contain more than 55 gallons of hazardous chemicals, shall be located outside of any building or buried below ground level. When above ground, said tank or tanks containing liquids, shall be diked. Each dike shall have a capacity of not less than one and one-half times the combined capacity of the tank or tanks it surrounds. Dike construction shall be as specified in Section 129.1-14 of this code; provided, however, the material of the dike walls shall be inert with respect to the materials contained within the tank or tanks.

92-14.2. The provisions of this section shall apply to all existing as well as newly installed tanks. All tanks, piping and fittings shall be compatible with the material to be stored or handled. Outlets and inlets of all above ground tanks shall have a shut off valve as close as possible to the tank, with no branches or outlets between the tank and valve. All inlet pipes shall have an additional check valve as close as possible to the tank valve. In addition to any other valves when the material stored is reactive with air or water, there shall be a valve at each pipe line connection to any tank below the liquid level which valve shall be effective inside the tank shell or head and can be operated manually to prevent the flow of liquid from the tank even though the pipe lines are broken from the tank. All remote reach rods to valves shall be of substantial construction and shall be accessibly located and clearly marked "Emergency Shut-Off Valve". There shall be an effective flexible connection between that tank valve and piping system or the piping shall be so arranged with swing joints to prevent stress and strain between the piping system and tank. Where the exterior piping and sides of the tank are not inert to the material being stored, the piping, piping supports and tank shall be made inert by coating or some other means to one and one-half times the height of the dike.

92-14.3. Tanks or tank cars of hazardous chemicals of any capacity shall not be located within one-eighth mile from any school, institutional unit, multiple dwelling or place of public assembly.

92-14.4. Whenever a hazardous chemical can be chemically changed to a less dangerous and more stable material, a qualified chemist of the manufacturer shall state in writing the safest and quickest method of changing the total capacity of the tank or tanks in case of a rupture, spillage or other emergency. The owner and/or operator of said tank or tanks shall keep sufficient quantities of the changing agent as hereinbefore determined so as to be readily available in the event of an emergency.

92-14.5. The name and address of the manufacturer or the nearest producer of the specific hazardous material being used and a placard outlining emergency first aid directions shall be posted and remain posted in a conspicuous place at the points of unloading and use and in at least one other approved location.

Oxygen generating or self-contained air or oxygen masks having a United States Bureau of Mines or National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health approval for a minimum of one-half hour protection shall be maintained in a readily accessible location, outside the areas of probable contamination and sufficient for all personnel associated with the operation.

Additional air or oxygen containers which will provide for a minimum of one hour use of each mask shall be kept at the location of each gas mask. All personnel that may be required to use gas masks must be required at reasonable intervals to practice their application and use. Gas masks must be kept in condition, ready for immediate use at all times with fully charged containers.

An approved repair kit with all the necessary tools, appurtenances and material required to repair a leak or replace a defective valve or other part, shall be kept in a location accessible to the tank car and outside the probable area of contamination.

Protective clothing suitable for use with the materials stored shall be provided and be kept in good condition where its use will provide effective protection against the hazardous material.

Gas masks, repair kit and duplicate wrenches shall be kept in a conspicuous location and shall be conspicuously labeled for immediate identification.

Oxidizing Materials

92-15. Oxidizing materials shall be stored, kept or handled in rooms or buildings complying with the requirements for hazardous chemicals, except as permitted in Section 92-17 and except that the area of such buildings shall comply with Sections 51-2.2 and 51-2.3 for industrial or storage occupancies in buildings permitted in Chapter 60. The maximum heights of such buildings shall be determined by Chapter 60. Such buildings and rooms shall be equipped with a standard system of automatic sprinklers. Ventilation of such rooms shall be in accordance with Section 92-8 of this code.

92-16. No oxidizing material building shall be located nearer than one hundred feet to any building in which there is an institutional, assembly or open air assembly unit, except as otherwise provided.

92-17. The storage and handling of oxidizing materials other than that used for retail sales in original sealed containers, located in mercantile units as defined in Section 48-7, shall comply with the following requirements:

(1) Quantities in excess of one day's supply shall be stored in buildings or rooms conforming to the requirements for hazardous chemicals. The user shall notify the Bureau of Fire Prevention by notarized letter of the amount used in one day. Upon any change in that amount, the Bureau of Fire Prevention shall be notified within 24 hours.

(2) The use of oxidizing materials in buildings shall be limited to use in rooms complying with the requirements for hazardous chemical rooms.

(3) Oxidizing materials shall be stored in dry locations and shall be separated from organic materials by walls conforming to the requirements of hazardous chemicals rooms.

(4) Bulk oxidizing materials shall not be stored on or against wooden surfaces.

(5) Defective containers which permit leakage or spillage shall be disposed of or repaired in an approved manner. No spilled materials shall be allowed to accumulate on floors or shelves.

(6) Signs having a white field with red letters 4 inches high and having a one-half inch stroke shall be conspicuously posted. Such signs shall read "Oxidizing Materials—Keep Fire Away".

(7) Tanks, which contain more than 55 gallons of oxidizing materials, shall be located outside of any building or buried below ground level. When above ground, said tank or tanks containing liquids, shall be diked. Each dike shall have a capacity of not less than one and one-half times the combined capacity of the tank or tanks it surrounds. Dike construction shall be as specified in Section 129.1-14 of this code; provided, however, the material of the dike walls shall be inert with respect to the materials contained within the tank or tanks.

(8) The provisions of this section shall apply to all existing as well as newly installed tanks. All tanks, piping and fittings shall be compatible with the material to be stored or handled. Outlets and inlets of all above ground tanks shall have a shut-off valve as close as possible to the tank, with no branches or outlets between the tank and valve. All inlet pipes shall have an additional check valve as close as possible to the tank valve. In addition to any other valves when the material stored is reactive with air or water, there shall be a valve at each pipe line connection to any tank below the liquid level which valve shall be effective inside the tank shell or head and can be operated manually to prevent the flow of liquid from the tank even though the pipe lines are broken from the tank. All remote reach rods to valves shall be of substantial construction and shall be accessibly located and clearly marked "Emergency Shut-Off Valve". There shall be an effective flexible connection between that tank valve and piping system or the piping shall be so arranged with swing joints to prevent stress and strain between the piping system and tank. (i) Vehicles carrying explosives shall comply with Sections 129.1-105 to 129.1-110 inclusive. Wherever the phrase flammable liquids is used, it shall mean explosives and wherever the phrase truck, tank truck, semi-tank truck, or tank vehicle is used, it shall mean vehicles on which explosives are transported. The truck shall meet applicable Department of Transportation and/or Interstate Commerce Commission regulations and all requirements of the Municipal Code of the City of Chicago.

(j) No intoxicated person shall be permitted on a vehicle carrying explosives.

(k) No smoking within ten feet of a vehicle loaded with explosives shall be permitted.

(l) No person shall carry or transport in or upon such vehicle any explosives in excess of two thousand pounds.

(m) No person in charge of a vehicle carrying explosives shall deliver them except in original and unbroken packages, nor at any place other than a duly authorized magazine and to the person in charge thereof.

(n) Each vehicle shall carry an approved water type fire extinguisher thereon of not less than 2½ gallons capacity.

125-4. No person shall carry or transport on any public conveyance or on any railroad car running from point to point in the city, any black powder, guncotton, giant powder, dynamite, nitroglycerine, fulminate of mercury, or any other explosives.

125-5. (a) In blasting, it shall be unlawful to use a quantity of explosive exceeding in disruptive force the equivalent of one pound in weight of forty per cent dynamite for each two feet depth of hole that is above or less than ten feet below the curb; and the equivalent of one pound in weight of sixty per cent dynamite, for each two feet depth of hole that is more than ten feet below the curb.

(b) Frozen or partly frozen explosives shall not be placed in drill holes. Frozen cartridges, if not capped, must be returned to the thawing apparatus to be thawed. The removal of a primer from a frozen cartridge is hereby prohibited.

(c) In tamping drill holes, wooden rammers only shall be employed. Tamping by strokes is forbidden, and only direct application of pressure permitted.

(d) Blasts, except as hereinafter provided, shall be fired by the application of some form of electrical current only. In blasting in stone quarries, it shall be permissible to fire blasts by the application of time fuses.

(e) In case of an explosion not carrying away the entire drill hole, but leaving the lower part intact, it is prohibited to begin drilling from the bottom of the old drill hole.

(f) In order to insure the safety of surrounding property and persons, no larger charge shall be used than is necessary to properly start the object it is intended to wreck or blast, and excavating contiguous to any structure shall be so carried on as not to cause damage to such structure. Weak walls or other supports of such structure must be shored up. The blasting of decomposed or soft rock is hereby prohibited.

(g) Before any blast shall be fired, except in tunnels, the rock to be blasted shall be covered on the top and sides with timber and covered with stout metal matting or some other equally serviceable material to prevent the debris from flying.

125-6. Small arms ammunition, when not exceeding five hundred pounds, may be stored in buildings other than a magazine. If over fifty pounds of small arm ammunition is stored in a building, then a netting, having no larger than one quarter inch mesh, supported by iron or heavy wooden uprights, shall surround the storage area. If over five hundred pounds is stored, it shall be stored in a magazine.

125-7. All thawing of frozen dynamite or other explosives by means of artificial heat from any source, is prohibited within the city limits.

125-8. No explosives shall be landed at the piers or elsewhere in the city, or transported to a vessel lying at a pier, unless the explosives contained in the vessel making delivery are in charge of a duly certified employe of a person licensed to transport or sell explosives within the city limits. No explosives shall be landed at any pier in the city unless for immediate loading into wagons for distribution to consumers for use within forty-eight hours and for which orders have been previously received, or for immediate transportation by railway to points beyond the city limits; and explosives received at railway stations within the city limits shall be promptly discharged and removed to such storage as the provisions of this Chapter prescribe. Explosives received at any railway or freight stations within the city limits, for reshipment to points beyond the city limits, shall be promptly transferred; provided, however, that no explosives received for shipment shall remain at any railway or freight station for a period exceeding forty-eight hours. Every railroad car containing explosives within the city limits must be placarded on sides and ends with standard explosive placards as prescribed by the interstate commerce commission regulations for explosives and other dangerous articles.

125-9. Each package containing an explosive must have the name and brand of the manufacturer marked thereon, and must be marked conspicuously as prescribed by the interstate commerce commission for explosives and other dangerous articles.

Cardboard cartons closed at the bottom and made of strong and flexible material that is impervious to nitroglycerine may be used as a lining. At least one-quarter of an inch of dry sawdust or wood pulp or similar material must be spread over the bottom of the box before inserting the cartridges, and all the vacant space in the top must be filled with this material. The cartridges must be so arranged in the boxes that when they are transported with the boxes top side up all cartridges will be on their sides and never on their ends.

No explosive cartridge sold shall be larger than four inches in diameter and eight inches long. Packages of explosives shall not contain more than fifty pounds.

125-11. No explosives shall be stored in any building other than a magazine except as provided in Section 125-6.

125-13. First-Class Magazines. Any first-class magazine for the storage of explosives shall not exceed one story, or fifteen feet in height, and such magazine shall not have any basement or any mezzanine. Every first-class magazine shall be constructed of non-combustible materials and shall have exterior walls of solid brick masonry; provided, however, that walls may be constructed of good sheathing and wood studs with all space between the studs filled with dry sand for a thickness of not less than five and one-half inches and covered on the outside surface with non-combustible materials. There shall be no openings in any walls except a doorway which shall be provided with non-combustible materials. There shall be no openings in any walls except a doorway, which shall be provided with a non-combustible or metal-clad door.

Every magazine for fireworks shall be isolated by a safety clearance of not less than one-half the safety clearance required by this paragraph for explosives, for any like given quantity in pounds.

With Barricades. Whenever a magazine for explosives is screened by natural features of the ground, or by an artificial mound of solid earth of such height that any straight line drawn from the top of any side wall of such magazine to any point twenty-five feet above the nearest lot lines, or to the highest point of any building within the radius to be protected, will pass through such intervening earth barrier, then such minimum required horizontal safety clearances required by the first paragraph of this section may be reduced fifty per cent; provided, however, that for every one foot such magazine is depressed below the street grade at a quarry or other pit, such minimum required horizontal safety clearance may be reduced ten feet; provided further, that such lateral safety clearance shall be not less than twenty-five feet in any case.

125-15. All magazines shall at all times be in the care of a competent employee whose duty it shall be to see that no unauthorized person has access to them. Said employee shall have no other duty that will interfere with his careful supervision of such magazine or thaw house, and shall have a certificate of fitness as a magazine keeper.

All magazines shall be painted bright red, with the words "Magazine — Danger" painted thereon in white letters on a black background. Such letters shall be at least six inches high.

125-16. All exterior walls of every magazine shall be painted bright red. The words "Magazine—Danger" shall be painted in a conspicuous position on the front wall of every magazine.

125-17. It is hereby declared to be unlawful for any person to sell, deliver, or give to any person under eighteen years of age any black powder, dynamite, nitroglycerine, guncotton or other explosive.

125-18. If it shall be found that any of the explosives mentioned in Section 125-1 are being kept in any building, structure or premises, or in any vehicle or on board of any vessel within the city in violation of any of the provisions of this chapter, any such explosives so kept shall be immediately seized and removed to such place as the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention may direct.

It is hereby made the duty of the members of the police department to assist in making such seizure when requested so to do by said division marshal, and to assist in the removal of such explosives to such place as may be designated by him.

125-19. (a) No person shall have more than one thousand electrical detonators in stock at any time.

(b) Chlorides calculated as potassium chloride must not exceed one-quarter of one per cent.

(c) Any explosive mixture containing chlorate of potash offered for sale must contain no free acid or substance liable to produce free acid.

(d) All explosives containing chlorate of potash or nitre compounds shall be subject to the British heat test.

(e) It shall be unlawful to sell, transport, or use leaky dynamite (leaking nitroglycerine).

(f) The keeping or storing of nitrocellulose in a dry condition in quantities greater than ten pounds in one place is hereby prohibited.

(g) The use of frozen or partly frozen cartridges and the breaking or cutting of them or drilling them for caps is hereby prohibited.

(h) Blasting powder, black powder, sporting powder, rifle powder, all military smokeless powder, and low blasting explosives shall be packed in metal cases containing not more than twenty-five pounds.

125-20. No person shall manufacture, assemble, or mix anywhere within the city any black powder, guncotton, giant powder, dynamite, nitroglycerine, fulminate of mercury, or other explosives of similar nature.

Fireworks

125-21. The term fireworks shall mean and include any explosive composition, or any substance or combination of substances, or article prepared for the purpose of producing a visible or audible effect of a temporary exhibitional nature by explosion, combustion, deflagration or detonation, and shall include blank cartridges, toy cannons, in which explosives are used, the type of balloons which require fire underneath to propel the same, firecrackers, torpedoes, skyrockets, roman candles, sparklers, bombs, or other fireworks of like construction and any fireworks containing any explosive compound, or any tablets or other device containing any explosive substances, or containing combustible substances producing visual effects; provided, however, that the term "fireworks" shall not include, toy pistols, toy canes, toy guns, or other devices in which paper caps containing twenty-five hundredths grains or less of explosive compound are used, providing they are so constructed that the hand cannot come in contact with the cap when in place for the explosion, and toy pistol paper caps which contain less than twenty hundredths grains of explosive mixture.

125-22. No person shall have, keep, store, use, manufacture, assemble, mix, sell, handle or transport any fireworks; provided, however, that nothing in this chapter shall be held to apply to the possession or use of signaling devices for current daily consumption by railroads, vessels and others requiring them or to the possession, sale or use of normal stocks of flashlight compositions by photographers or dealers in photographic supplies; and provided further that the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention may issue permits for the display of fireworks as hereinafter provided.

125-23. No person shall advertise, print, publish or cause to be advertised, printed or published in any newspaper or other publication having a general circulation in the city, or which is sold or offered for sale within the city, or by means of any handbill, circular, or poster, any advertisement or notice of sale or delivery within the city of any fireworks, except to a person to whom a permit has been issued as provided below.

125-24. The division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention may, upon due application, issue a permit to a properly qualified person for giving a display of fireworks in the public parks or other public open places. Such permits shall impose such restrictions as in the opinion of the said division marshal may be necessary to safeguard life and property in each case.

125-25. Nothing contained in this part of this Chapter dealing with fireworks shall be construed as applying to the transportation of any article or thing shipped in conformity with the regulations prescribed by the Interstate Commerce Commission, nor as applying to the military or naval forces of the United States.

125-26. For permit and permit fee requirements, see Sections 90-61 through 90-63 of this Code.

(b) Fume or flammable compressed gas room. A room designed, intended or used for any of the purposes described under the preceding paragraph and which is located in a building other than a fume or flammable compressed gas building.

(c) Fume hazard gases. Ammonia gas, chlorine gas, prosgene gas, sulphur dioxide gas, chlororipicrin gas, cyanogen gas, hydrogen cyanide gas, nitrogen peroxide gas and other gas which has an equal or greater danger to life, and any other gas which, as determined by the committee on standards and tests, is in fact a poisonous irritant or corrosive gas and is not susceptible to fire or explosion, shall each be defined as a fume hazard gas.

(d) Flammable compressed gases, acetylene gas, ammonia gas, ether gas, ethyl chloride gas, ethylene gas, liquefied hyrocarbon gases, liquefied petroleum gases, hydrogen gas, illuminating gas, methyl chloride gas and any other gas which is a poisonous, irritant or corrosive gas and is also a gas susceptible to explosion under any condition or is not a poisonous, irritant or corrosive gas but is a gas susceptible to burning under any condition shall each be defined as a flammable compressed gas.

Fume or flammable compressed gas. No sprinkler system shall be required for any fume or flammable compressed gas building of Type IA, IB or IC construction, nor for any room intended for the storage and use of chlorine gas for no purpose other than the operation of a water purification plant or refrigerating unit, nor for any unit of non-combustible construction used exclusively for the production of manufactured gas.

The following definitions shall apply to sections regulating liquefied petroleum gas only.

1. Containers—All vessels, such as tanks, cylinders or drums used for transportation or storing of liquefied petroleum gas.

2. Capacity of Container—The amount of liquefied petroleum gas that a container will hold. For Interstate Commerce Commission or Department of Transportation approved containers, this is expressed in pounds of liquefied petroleum gas. For American Society of Mechanical Engineers approved containers, this is expressed in gallons water capacity.

3. Liquefied petroleum gas shall mean and include any material which is composed predominately of any of the following hydrocarbons, or mixtures of them: propane, propylene, butane (normal butane or iso-butane) and butylenes.

4. Excess Flow Valve—A valve intended to prevent a flow rate greater than the maximum pre-set flow rate.

8. Used or In Use—Shall mean connected to a system for use.

129-3. Any building used exclusively for the production, distribution or storage of manufactured gas as a public utility shall be exempt from the requirements of this part of this chapter dealing with construction except the provisions of Section 129.1-14 for tanks for flammable liquids; provided, however, that such buildings shall be constructed, as provided in Section 58-2, entirely of noncombustible materials, with interior framing member either with or without fireproof covering.

129-7. General. Every fume or flammable compressed gas building shall be without any basement, except such a basement as is permitted for a hazardous chemical storage building.

Fume Hazard Gases. Type IA, IB, IC, II, IIIA, IIIB or IIIC construction shall be used for any building in which any fume hazard gas is manufactured, compressed air stored; provided, however, that a building may be of any type of construction permissible respectively for an Industrial Unit or a Storage Unit under the provisions of this code, where any gas is permitted to be stored or used on the premises. Every such building of Type IIIA, IIIB or IIIC construction should be not more than one story above grade in height and shall have no mezzanine unless such building is equipped throughout with a standard system of automatic sprinklers.

Refrigerating Systems. Any mechanical refrigerating system built in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 85 shall be exempt from the provisions of this Section.

Natural and/or Manufacturers Gas Holders. It shall be unlawful to take out of service any gas holders containing flammable compressed gases, or to make any connections thereto within the city without first notifying the commissioner of buildings twenty-four hours in advance, and without first emptying and purging such gas holders of all explosive gases, and without first making a physical disconnection of all connecting piping, taking out sections thereof to make such disconnections. Before making such repairs, the contents of the gas holders shall be tested and the analysis of the mixture of air or inert gases therein shall be recorded and reported to the commissioner of buildings. Every such gas holder or tank, containing more than twenty-five hundred cubic feet of gas, shall be inspected at least once every five years by a recognized authority, employed by the owner and approved by the commissioner of buildings, and a report of all such inspections showing the condition of said gas holder or tank, together with a statement of necessary repairs and the further statement that such repairs have been made and that said gas holder or tank is in a good and safe condition with an expectancy that this condition will endure for the succeeding term of five years, shall be submitted to the commissioner of buildings. A non-corrosive metal tag containing the date of every such inspection and approval shall be attached to each such gas holder following every such inspection. The provisions of this paragraph shall not apply to cylinder or containers meeting the requirements of the Interstate Commerce Commission regulations for interstate shipments.

129-8. (a) General. Every fume or flammable compressed gas room in a building of Type IA, IB or IC construction shall have an enclosure of two hour fire resistive construction, except as otherwise provided under this Section. All containers, cylinders, piping or other equipment containing more than ten pounds of such gases named in this Section in any other building, shall be located within a room or space having a four hour fire resistive enclosure. Any such room shall have no opening except to an open court, private alley, public way, or other open space not less than one hundred square feet in area. Nothing in the provisions of this Section shall be construed as prohibiting the location of such equipment in the same room with a furnace, boiler, or other heat producing unit or incinerator, if such room is made to comply with the provisions of this section.

(c) Cooling and refrigerating equipment. Any room or space used for cooling or refrigerating equipment shall conform to the requirements of Chapter 85 for refrigerating systems.

129-9. No person shall manufacture or compress any fume or flammable compressed gas, as defined in Section 129-2, nor store more than twenty-five hundred cubic feet of any such gas in any building other than a fume or flammable compressed gas building constructed in accordance with this code.

129-10. Every building hereafter designed, erected, altered or converted for the purpose of manufacturing or storing for resale, any fume or flammable compressed gas in a quantity exceeding twenty-five hundred cubic feet during any twenty-four hour period shall be free standing and isolated by a safety clearance of not less than two hundred fifty feet. Every building hereafter designed, erected, altered or converted for the purpose of manufacturing, compressing or storing acetylene gas at a pressure of more than fifteen pounds per square inch, shall be free standing and isolated by a safety clearance of not less than two hundred fifty feet.

Any building or group of buildings used for the purpose of the production, distribution or storage of any fume or flammable compressed gas, shall be exempt from the provisions of the preceding paragraph with respect to any other building or structure within the same group and used for similar purposes. Any public utility engaged in the production, distribution or storage of illuminating gas shall also be exempt from the provisions of the preceding paragraph, except as prohibited or otherwise regulated in other provisions of this code. Nothing in this Section shall be construed as prohibiting the storage for use on the premises of acetylene gas in cylinders in a quantity of twenty-five hundred cubic feet or less or the generation of any such gas for use on the premises, in a quantity of twenty-five hundred cubic feet or less at a pressure of fifteen pounds or less per square inch, or the use of any number of cylinders of any such gas which in actual use or attached ready for use in any industrial process. Any mechanical refrigerating system built in accordance with Chapter 85 shall be exempt from the provisions of this section.

129-11. Fume or flammable compressed gas buildings. Every fume or flammable compressed gas building shall have a floor area limited by the provisions of Chapter 51 for industrial units.

Fume or flammable compressed gas rooms. No fume or flammable compressed gas room shall have a floor area of more than six hundred square feet; provided, however, that this requirement shall not apply to a room used for no purpose other than the operation of a water purification plant or refrigerating unit. Two sides, or two ends, or one side and one end of every fume or flammable compressed gas room shall be enclosed by an outside wall. Not more than two fume or flammable compressed gas rooms shall be permitted in any building; provided, however, that in a building equipped throughout with a standard system of automatic sprinklers not more than six such rooms shall be permitted.

Manufactured gas building. Any building used exclusively for the production, distribution or storage of manufactured gas as public utility, shall be exempt from the provisions of this section.

129-12. Every fume or flammable compressed gas room shall have means of natural ventilation as required under Section 92-21 for material heating rooms. The combined area of ventilating openings with closures arranged to open automatically in case of explosion or fire shall be not less than five per cent of the total wall area.

129-13. Every fume or flammable compressed gas building and every fume or flammable compressed gas room shall have the words "DANGER — POISONOUS GAS" where any fume hazard gas occurs, or the words "DANGER——FLAMMABLE GAS" where any flammable compressed gas occurs, painted in a conspicuous position on the outside of every entrance thereto; provided, however, that no such sign shall be required for any building or room in which not more than two standard cylinders of such gas are present at any time. No smoking signs shall also be provided wherever flammable compressed gas is stored.

Such wording shall be in plainly legible bright red letters on a white background with letters not less than six inches high and with the principal strokes thereof not less than three-fourths inch in width.

129-14. The storage or handling of fume hazard gases shall comply with the following requirements:

(1) Containers having a pressure of 15 psi or less or a quantity less than 2,500 feet may be stored in suitably ventilated cabinets located outside of the main building adequately protected from extreme heat and accumulations of snow and ice, if within a building they shall be in rooms complying with above. No combustible material shall be allowed in such rooms or within 10 feet of an outside cabinet. Quantities in excess of the above limits shall not be allowed in any building other than a fume hazard building complying with the requirements of this chapter.

(2) Signs having a white field with red letters four inches high and having a stroke of one-half inch shall be conspicuously posted. Such signs shall read "TOXIC GAS—HANDLE WITH CARE".

(3) Defective containers which permit leakage or spillage shall be disposed of or repaired, in an approved manner. No spilled materials shall be allowed to accumulate on floors or shelves.

129-14.1. Tanks, which contain more than 55 gallons of fume hazard and/or flammable compressed gases, shall be located outside of any building or buried below ground level. When above ground, said tank or tanks containing liquids, shall be diked. Each dike shall have a capacity of not less than one and one-half times the combined capacity of the tank or tanks it surrounds. Dike construction shall be as specified in Section 129.1-14 of this code; provided, however, the materials of the dike walls shall be inert with respect to the materials contained within the tank or tanks.

129-14.2. The provisions of this Section shall apply to all existing as well as newly installed tanks. All tanks, piping and fittings shall be compatible with the materials to be stored or handled. Outlets and inlets of all above ground tanks shall have a shut-off valve as close as possible to the tank, with no branches or outlets between the tank and valve. All inlet pipes shall have an additional check valve as close as possible to the tank valve. In addition to any other valves when the stored material is reactive with air or water, there shall be a valve at each pipe line connection to any tank below the liquid level which valve shall be effective inside the tank shell or head and can be operated manually to prevent the flow of liquid from the tank even though the pipe lines are broken from the tank. All remote reach rods to valves shall be of substantial construction and shall be accessibly located and clearly marked "Emergency Shut-Off Valve". There shall be an effective flexible connection between that tank valve and piping system or the piping shall be so arranged with swing joints to prevent stress and strain between the piping system and tank. Where the exterior piping and sides of the tank are not inert to the material being stored, the piping, piping supports and tank shall be made inert by coating or some other means to one and one-half times the height of the dike.

129-14.3. Tanks or tank cars of fume hazard and/or flammable compressed gases of any capacity shall not be located within one-eighth mile from any school, institutional unit, multiple dwelling or place of public assembly.

129-14.4. Whenever a fume hazard gas and/or flammable compressed gas can be chemically changed to a less dangerous and more stable material, a qualified chemist of the manufacturer shall state in writing the safest and quickest method of changing the total capacity of the tank or tanks in case of a rupture, spillage or other emergency. The owner and/or operator of said tank or tanks shall keep sufficient quantities of the changing agent as hereinbefore determined so as to be readily available in the event of an emergency.

129-14.5. The name and address of the manufacturer or the nearest producer of the specific fume hazard and/or flammable compressed gas being used and a placard outlining emergency first aid directions shall be posted and remain posted in a conspicuous place at the points of unloading and use and in at least one other approved location.

Oxygen generating or self-contained air or oxygen masks having a United States Bureau of Mines or National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health approval for a minimum of one-half hour protection shall be maintained in a readily accessible location, outside the areas of probable contamination and sufficient for all personnel associated with the operation.

Additional air or oxygen containers which will provide for a minimum of one hour use of each mask shall be kept at the location of each gas mask. All personnel that may be required to use gas masks must be required at reasonable intervals to practice their application and use. Gas masks must be kept in condition, ready for immediate use at all times with fully charged containers.

An approved repair kit with all the necessary tools, appurtenances and material required to repair a leak or replace a defective valve or other part, shall be kept in a location accessible to the tank and outside the probable area of contamination.

Protective clothing suitable for use with the materials stored shall be provided and be kept in good condition where its use will provide effective protection against the fume hazard gas.

Gas masks, repair kit and duplicate wrenches shall be kept in a conspicuous location and shall be conspicuously labeled for immediate identification.

Transportation

129-15. Vehicles carrying fume hazard or flammable compressed gases shall comply with Sections 129.1-105 to 129.1-110 inclusive. Wherever the phrase flammable liquids is used, it shall mean fume hazard and flammable compressed gases and wherever the phrase truck, tank truck, semi-tank truck, or tank vehicle is used, it shall mean vehicles on which fume hazard and flammable compressed gases are transported. The truck shall meet applicable Department of Transportation and/or Interstate Commerce Commission regulations and all requirements of the Municipal Code of the City of Chicago.

129-16. No installation for the use or storage of liquefied fume hazard gases in single unit tank cars shall be located within one-eighth mile from a school, church, institutional building, theater, multiple dwelling or place of public assembly.

129-17. Tank cars shall comply in all respects with Interstate Commerce Commission or Department of Transportation specifications. They shall be received and unloaded only on a private track of the consumer or on a leased track, protected as hereinafter provided.

Unloading track and unloading area for a distance of 50 feet in all directions from tank cars shall be maintained free of all combustible rubbish and vegetation at all times.

Portions of switch tracks on which such tank cars are placed for unloading shall be devoted solely to this purpose during the unloading period, and wherever possible, shall be a stub or dead-end track.

No more than two tank cars shall be on any licensed premises at one time, namely: the car in use and a replacement for the car in use when it is emptied. The second car shall be subject to all requirements for the first car as herein defined.

Immediately upon spotting a tank car on a siding for unloading, brakes shall be set and wheels shall be blocked to prevent any unauthorized movement thereof.

Unloading connections shall be securely attached before discharge valves are opened and immediately disconnected when unloading is completed.

If normal unloading operations are interrupted and it is necessary to discontinue unloading a tank car for any reason, all unloading connections shall be disconnected. All valves shall first be tightly closed, and the closures of all other openings securely applied.

The unloading lines shall be completely emptied of liquid when unloading is discontinued.

129-18. Caution signs which comply with the following regulations of the Interstate Commerce Commission or Department of Transportation regulations shall be provided and used:

> "Caution signs must be so placed on the track or car as to give necessary warning to persons approaching car from open end or ends of siding and must be left up until after car is unloaded and disconnected from discharge connection. Signs must be of metal, at least 12 by 15 inches in size and bear the words "STOP-TANK CAR CONNECTED" or "STOP-MEN AT WORK" and the word "STOP" being in letters at least four inches high and the other words in letters at least two inches high. The letters must be white on a blue background." Such signs shall show the name of the specific fume hazard gas in the tank car.

129-19. When tank cars are located on a dead-end siding, they shall be protected from any oncoming car by a locked switch which shall positively prevent collision with the tank car. If on an open siding, tank cars shall be protected by locked switches at both ends. Locked switches shall be located not less than 15 feet from either or both ends of tank cars. Keys for switches shall be available only to persons having certificates of fitness.

If unloading operations are carried on at night, an approved vapor-proof red electric light shall be installed at the location of each locked switch and shall be kept lighted at all times when tank car is connected to the unloading line.

129-20. Minimum tank car safety clearances from adjacent buildings or structures shall be in accordance with the following table:

Nature of Building Construction	Min. Dist. With Fender Wall	Min. Dist. Without Fender Wall
External walls of fire resistive construction—no openings	15′	25′
External walls of fire resistive construction—with openings	25′	50′
External walls not of fire resistive construction	50′	75′

"Minimum distance" refers to distance between center line of track and exterior face of building wall.

"No openings" means no windows, doors or other openings in wall opposite car for a distance equal to the length of the car plus 15′ on both ends and for a height of 25′ above tank car rail elevation.

"Fender wall" refers to a free standing wall 5 feet longer at each end than the length, and 5 feet higher than the greatest height of the tank cars to be used and shall be interposed between the tank car track and such building. The wall shall be of 4 hour fire resistive construction and shall have a fender or return wall at each end, of same height and thickness and extending at least 3 feet on the tank car side of such fender wall. It shall be located parallel to the siding and its center line shall be not less than 8 feet and not more than 15 feet from the center line of the track.

The minimum tank car safety clearances shall be construed to require a space open its entire area to the sky and shall apply to property dividing lines or adjacent property which may be built upon, to adjoining and adjacent public way, and to any main line of a steam, electric, elevated railway or any other railway right of way.

129-21. If the licensee does not have a private switch engine available at all times to withdraw the tank cars in event of impeding damage to the car, he may be required to install an approved car puller which can be used to pull the car to a position of safety.

129-22. Tank cars shall be unloaded through piping systems which comply with the following requirements:

Extra heavy wrought steel pipe (ASTM schedule 80) shall be used for all liquefied gas lines and no such pipe shall be larger than 1½″ nominal diameter. All joints shall be welded whenever possible. If flanges are required, they shall be of the 300 pound forged steel ammonia type properly welded to the pipe with a continuous bead. Gaskets shall be of a material chemically resistant to the fluid in the line and suitable for the pressures and temperatures involved. Fittings shall be forged steel socket welding type designed for temperatures and pressures to be encountered. Valves shall be of a type specifically designed and manufactured for the particular liquefied gas involved and shall be for a 300 pound minimum operating pressure. One valve shall be placed in the line near the car in an accessible position, and one valve shall be installed immediately before the line enters the building in which such gas is to be used. In addition, one valve shall be provided for each 200 feet of line, 1½ inches in diameter or smaller. Where piping is exposed to variations in temperature, provisions shall be made for expansion of the piping and for the liquid in the line. One or more expansion loops shall be installed to provide for expansion of the pipe. The number of loops to be provided shall be calculated on the length of the line and extremes of temperature to which the line will be exposed. Adequate anchors shall be provided so that expansion will be in the directions desired. To provide for liquid expansion, one or more expansion chambers shall be installed depending on the length of line. The expansion chamber shall be in accordance with A.S.M.E. standards for pressure vessels of a size approximately equal to a 150 lb. gas cylinder. One such chamber shall be provided for each 500 feet of line of 1½ inch pipe size or smaller. The expansion chambers shall be inverted over the line and enclosed in an insulated box maintained at a temperature in excess of the critical temperature of the gas involved, at the operating pressure used. The unloading line shall be connected to the car by a semi-flexible goose neck or helical pipe connection that is flanged at one or both ends for connecting and disconnecting. Flexible connection shall be adequately supported and protected against damage.

Overhead lines shall be supported on steel, concrete columns or other non-combustible structure in a manner to conform with the code for pressure piping as approved by the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and American National Standards Institute. All horizontal lines and supporting structures shall have minimum clearance of 23 feet over all roadways, over railroad rights-of-way and in other locations where they may be endangered by moving objects. In all other locations the minimum clearance between horizontal lines and supporting structures and the ground shall be 15 feet unless such lines are adequately protected from damage by a building of fire resistive construction. All vertical and inclined risers, at tank cars and at all other points where horizontal lines change from one elevation to another, shall be protected by running them against the web of a wide flange beam weighing not less than 30 pounds per foot. In every case the web of the beam shall be between the pipe and the direction from which it might be struck. Such protective beams shall be supported and anchored so as to afford complete protection against damage to the pipe line.

Underground lines shall be installed in an approved reinforced concrete trench, drained and with removable covers. In lieu of the concrete trench, where not feasible or desirable, the steel conductor pipe shall be protected in the ground by a pipe having pressure tight joints, acting as a continuous sleeve, fabricated of a material which will not be deteriorated unduly by any chemicals in the soil in which it is located. The conductor pipe and sleeve shall be installed sufficiently deep in the ground to protect against damage from loading on the surface of the ground. The pipe sleeve shall be sealed to the conductor pipe at its ends, outside of the ground either by welding the sleeve to the conductor pipe or by a pressure tight lead caulked joint.

A pressure gauge shall be provided which will indicate pressure inside the sleeve in event of a leak in the conductor pipe. A compressed air pressure connection shall also be provided by which the sleeve can be tested for tightness. The vertical pipe from the flexible connection at the tank car to the ground shall be protected against damage by a steel beam as previously described.

Welding procedures shall be qualified under the regulations of the latest edition of the American National Standard Code for Pressure Piping, ANSI B-31.1, and shall meet the approval of the division marshal in charge of Bureau of Fire Prevention. Certificates of each welder's qualifications shall be presented before any work is started.

129-23. All exposed piping containing liquefied fume hazard gas located within or outside of a building shall be painted in accordance with ANSI Standard A-13, "Scheme for Identification of Piping Systems", Class D. The liquid in such piping shall be designated by clear and legible lettering on the pipe, or, if the pipes are too small for legible lettering, by placards securely hung on the pipe. Labeling or placards shall be sufficiently frequent to make identification simple and easy, at all valves, and in each room within a building. Support columns for outdoor piping shall have ample identifying signs, warning that piping carries a specific liquefied fume hazard gas and must not be bumped or damaged.

129-24. Adequate approved electric lighting shall be provided in all areas where unloading, connecting, disconnecting and valving operations are to be performed or where fume hazard gases are used or stored.

Tank cars shall be protected from undue heat or open flame. Installation of equipment shall be made to prevent pressure build-up in tank cars beyond normal safe tolerance, in accordance with Recommendations of the Manufacturing Chemist's Association.

Processing equipment shall be located at such an elevation that pressure in excess of tank car pressure shall not be necessary to force the liquid into the equipment.

Pressure in tank cars shall not be increased by introduction of any gas under pressure or by any other means.

129-25. The name and address of the manufacturer or the nearest producer of the specific gas being used and a placard outlining emergency first aid directions shall be posted and remain posted in a conspicuous place at the points of unloading and use and in at least one other approved location.

Adequate oxygen generating or self-contained air or oxygen masks having a United States Bureau of Mines or National Institute of Occupational Health & Safety approval for a minimum of one-half hour protection shall be maintained in a readily accessible location, outside the areas of probable contamination. Additional air or oxygen containers which will provide for a minimum of one hour use of each mask shall be kept at the location of each gas mask. All personnel that may be required to use gas masks must be required at reasonable intervals to practice their application and use. Gas masks must be kept in condition, readly for immediate use at all times with fully charged containers.

129-26. An approved repair kit with all the necessary tools, appurtenances and material required to repair a leak or replace a defective valve or other part, shall be kept in a location accessible to the tank car and outside the probable area of contamination.

A duplicate set of wrenches necessary to connect and disconnect all loading and unloading connections shall be kept in a readily accessible location at all times.

Gas masks, repair kit and duplicate wrenches shall be kept in a conspicuous location and shall be conspicuously labeled for immediate identification.

129-27. The word "approved", as used in Sections 129-17 to 129-26, shall mean, tested and approved by a nationally recognized testing organization such as Underwriter's Laboratories, Inc., American Gas Association or some other agency, and acceptable to the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention.

Generation of Acetylene Gas

129-28. The provisions of this chapter relating to the generation of acetylene gas shall not apply to portable generators used exclusively for lighting, to generators used in connection with vehicle lighting, or to plants devoted to the manufacture and compression of dissolved acetylene for sale purposes.

129-29. No acetylene generator shall be permitted in a building having sleeping accommodations.

129-30. Acetylene generators shall be plainly marked with the maximum rate in cubic feet of acetylene per hour for which they are designed, the amount of carbide necessary for a single charge, the manufacturer's name and address, and the name and number or the type of machine.

129-31. Printed warning and instruction cards provided by the maker shall be posted in a conspicuous position near the acetylene generator so that the operator may consult them conveniently from time to time.

129-32. Any necessary repairs to generator or system shall be made during daylight hours by natural light, or by the fixed lights in the generator room. The use of portable lights is strictly prohibited.

129-33. All blow torches, regulators and other appliances shall be maintained in good condition at all times. No appliances shall be installed in any line which causes or allows the mixture of air or other oxygen carrier with acetylene, except directly at the torch or burner. The use of an expansion tank or tanks in any part of the system is prohibited.

129-34. Stationary acetylene gas generators shall be installed in a suitable building which shall be constructed and maintained in accordance with the building provisions of this code applicable to buildings housing such apparatus.

129-35. The connections from generators to service pipes shall be made with right and left thread nipples or long thread nipples with lock nuts or approved unions. Unions depending on gaskets to make tight are prohibited in pipe sizes under two and one-half inches. Piping shall be arranged so that any moisture will drain to the generator, drip pots or seals. Each generator shall be provided with a gas escape or relief pipe to take care of over or after generation. Such gas escape or relief pipes shall be of galvanized iron of the following sizes:

Size of machine (pounds)	Minimum diameter of pipe
Up to 25 inclusive	¾ inch
26 to 100 inclusive	1 inch
101 to 200 inclusive	1¼ inch
Over 200	1½ inch

The relief pipe shall be made as short and as free from bends as practicable. However, if it be more than fifty feet in length or have more than four right angle bends, a pipe of one size larger than that required by this table shall be used. It shall be substantially installed without traps and in such manner that any condensation will drain back to the generator or its component parts. It shall be carried to a suitable point outside the building and shall terminate in an approved hood or bend at least twelve feet above the ground and remote from windows or other openings into buildings, and shall be so constructed that it cannot be obstructed by rain, snow, ice, insects or birds.

129-36. In cases where the generators are supplied with water from city mains or house pipes, and where dangerous pressures might be built up, no direct pipe connection with the generator shall be permitted. In such cases the supply pipe shall terminate some distance above the regularly provided opening for filling, so that water can be observed as it enters the generator.

129-37. Machines of carbide feed type shall not be fitted with continuous drain connections leading to sewers, but shall discharge into suitable open receptacles which may have such connections.

129-38. Gasometers, if used, shall be of the liquid sealed inverted bell type, of such design that a pressure in excess of fifteen pounds cannot be obtained.

129-40. Portable generators shall not be installed or used inside of buildings unless a permit for such use in said location shall first be secured from the division marshal in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention. It shall be the duty of the said division marshal to inspect the premises wherein such generator is to be used, before issuing such permit. The person applying for a permit shall pay the Director of Revenue a fee of three dollars for such inspection. Should the inspection show that the provisions of this Section are complied with, the said division marshal shall issue a permit for such installation and use.

129-41. Portable generators shall not be used in rooms of total volume less than thirty-five times the nominal aggregate gas-generating capacity per hour of all such generators in the room. Portable generators shall not be used in any room containing flammable liquids or gases, or in which any dust producing process is carried on, or in which any highly combustible or explosive materials are contained. Portable generators shall not be used in any poorly ventilated room.

129-42. Before any cutting or welding process, the floor shall be swept clean and, if of wood, shall be sprinkled with water. The scene of such work shall be inspected thirty minutes after every such cutting or welding operation and all smoldering sparks shall be extinguished.

Extra gas cylinders shall not be stored in the same room in which a portable generator is used.

Generators shall be cleaned and recharged and the air mixture shall be blown off outside of the building. Generators, when charged, shall not be moved by crane or derrick. When not in use they shall not be stored in any room in which open lights or fires are used unless free of carbide and thoroughly purged of gas.

Storage rooms for portable generator shall be thoroughly ventilated.

Cutting and welding operations shall not be carried on within ten feet of any combustible material other than the floor.

Generators shall not be placed where water will freeze. Salt or other corrosive chemicals shall not be used as a protection against freezing.

Not more than one cutting or welding flame shall be used with any portable generator unless permanently attached and piped as required, under Section 129-43 for semi-portable installations.

129-43. Portable generators shall not be installed in a permanent or semi-permanent location unless provided with vent and relief piping, equipped with approved interlocking devices, to the open air outside of buildings.

129-44. One or more standard fire extinguishers shall be located in a readily accessible position not more than fifty feet from the scene of every gas cutting or welding operation.

129-45. Gas cutting or welding operations upon tanks or containers which have at any time contained flammable liquids or gases, is prohibited unless such tanks or containers shall first be purged of gas and heat treated in the open air outside of buildings.

129-46. Calcium carbide in quantities not to exceed six hundred pounds may be stored, when contained in approved metal packages, inside of buildings used for other purposes; provided that the place of storage be dry, waterproof and well ventilated; and provided, also, that all but one of the packages of each size of carbide shall be sealed and the seals shall not be broken so long as there is carbide in excess of one pound in any other unsealed package in the building.

Calcium carbide in excess of six hundred pounds shall be stored in accordance with the building provisions of this code.

129-47. In any plant for the manufacture of acetylene gas, provisions shall be made for the disposal of the residuum of calcium carbide outside the building and without discharging into any drain or sewer.

129-48. The manufacture, transportation, storage, sale or use of liquefied acetylene is hereby prohibited within the corporate limits of the city.

(a) Closed container shall mean a container so sealed by means of a lid or other device that neither liquid nor vapor will escape from it at ordinary temperatures.

(b) Container shall mean any can, bucket, barrel or drum intended for portable use.

(c) Flash point of the liquid shall mean the minimum temperature at which it gives off vapor sufficient to form an ignitable mixture with the air near the surface of the liquid.

For a liquid which has a viscosity of less than 45 Saybolt Universal Seconds (SUS) at 100° F., does not contain suspended solids, and does not have a tendency to form a surface film while under test, the procedure specified in the Standard Method of Test for Flashpoint by Tag Closed Tester (ASTM D-56-70) shall be used.

For a liquid which has a viscosity of 45 SUS or more at 100° F., or contains suspended solids, or has a tendency to form a surface film while under test, the Standard Method of Test for Flashpoint by Pensky-Martens Closed Tester (ASTM D-93-71) shall be used, except that the methods specified in Note 1 to Section 1.1 of ASTM D-93-71 may be used for the respective materials specified in the Note.

For a liquid that is a mixture of compounds that have different volatilities and flashpoints, its flashpoint shall be determined by using the procedure specified in the above paragraphs on the liquid in the form it is shipped. If the flashpoint as determined by this test is 100° F. or higher, an additional flashpoint determination shall be run on a sample of the liquid evaporated to 90 percent of its original volume, and the lower value of the two tests shall be considered the flashpoint of the material.

(d) Flammable liquids. All flammable liquids shall be divided into three classes according to flashpoint as follows:

Class I. Liquids with a vapor pressure less than forty pounds per square inch absolute at one hundred degrees Fahrenheit and a flashpoint below one hundred degrees Fahrenheit, thirty-eight degrees Centigrade as determined by the herein required test.

Class II. Liquids with a vapor pressure less than forty pounds per square inch absolute at one hundred degrees Fahrenheit and a flash point above that for Class I and below one hundred forty degrees Fahrenheit, sixty degrees Centigrade, as determined by the herein required test.

Class III. Liquids with a flash point above that for Class II and below two hundred degrees Fahrenheit, ninety-three degrees Centigrade. Flammable liquids shall include but not be limited to:

Class I	Class II

The weak roof-to-shell seam (maximum 3/16 in. single fillet weld) shall be constructed to fail preferential to any other seam. Where entire dependence for emergency relief is placed upon pressure relieving devices, the total venting capacity of both normal and emergency vents shall be enough to prevent rupture of the shell or bottom of the tank if vertical, or of the shell or heads if horizontal. The total capacity of both normal and emergency venting devices shall not be less than that derived from Table 2. Such device may be a self-closing man-hole cover, or one using long bolts that may permit the cover to lift under internal pressure, or a self-closing gauge hatch, or an additional or large relief valve or pressure vacuum valve or valves, or an open vent. The wetted area of the tank shall be calculated on the basis of 55 percent of the total exposed area of a sphere or spheroid, 75 percent of the total exposed area of a horizontal tank and the first 30 feet above grade of the exposed shell area of a vertical tank.

b These pipe sizes apply only to open vent pipes of the indicated diameter not more than 12 inches long and a pressure in tank of not more than 2.5 pounds per square inch. If tank is to be equipped with venting device or flame arrester, the vent opening must accommodate the venting device or flame arrester sized in accordance with Column 2 of Table 2.

129.1-17. Gravity Feed Prohibited. No tanks, drums or other containers holding flammable liquids within a building or discharging within a building, shall be provided with any faucet or other bottom drawing device. Pipes shall not terminate at any point lower than the level of the source of supply. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed as prohibiting the storage or gravity flow or both storage and gravity flow of flammable liquids when such liquids are used in connection with oil burning equipment installed in accordance with Section 80-22, or in refineries, or in manufacturing and jobbing plants and in stores, plants, and establishments; provided, however, that tanks holding Class I flammable liquids shall be in a room constructed and arranged as provided by Section 129.1-33 for a special room for flammable liquids.

Fuel oil gravity feed tanks shall not exceed 550 gallons capacity. No gravity supply to a fuel oil burning appliance shall exceed 3 psi. Any oil fired appliance manufactured with a self contained supply tank shall not be piped to any other source of supply.

129.1-18. All Class I flammable liquids, except motor fuels, shall be dispensed through gauging or vending devices which shall be of substantial construction and firmly secured to concrete or masonry foundations, which shall be so located and designed as to prevent motor vehicles damaging such systems, except as permitted under Section 129.1-28. Systems wherein continuous pressure is maintained on the Class I flammable liquid storage tank in connection with gauging or vending devices shall not be permitted unless the hazard of the material is such that no other method of dispensing through gauging or vending devices is possible. The use of above ground Class I flammable liquid storage tanks, or tank cars or tank trucks, in connection with Class I flammable liquid vending or gauging devices, shall not be permitted. Tank trucks or tank cars shall not be used to store Class I flammable liquids while the liquid is being used.

129.1-18.1. Motor Fuel Dispensing. All flammable liquid gauging, vending and dispensing devices, shall be of substantial construction, and firmly secured to concrete foundation, which shall be so located and designed as to prevent motor vehicles damaging such devices. Systems wherein continuous pressure is maintained, or water is used to displace liquid from storage tanks, shall not be permitted. The use of above ground storage tanks, tank cars, tank trucks or portable tanks in connection with gauging, vending and dispensing devices, shall not be permitted.

Every remote pumping system shall be equipped with an Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc. listed leak detector valve or device located as close as possible to or within the pumping unit. An Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc. listed impact check valve shall be at the base of each dispenser.

Automatic hose nozzle valves with latch-open devices or any automatic device shall not be permitted inside a building. All dispensing devices shall be located so that all parts of the vehicles being served will be on private property. In no case shall the dispensing hose be longer than 16 feet for filling station and private locations. Where dispensing equipment is used exclusively for trucks or other larger vehicles, automatic hose retrievers may be used, and shall not exceed 40 feet of hose.

129.1-20. The minimum required safety clearance for aboveground flammable liquid storage tanks in reference to any building or lot line shall be regulated as follows.

Wherever unstable liquid is used in this Section it shall mean a liquid which in pure state or as commercially produced or transported will vigorously polymerize, decompose, condense or will become self-reactive under conditions of shock, pressure or temperature.

(a) Every aboveground tank for the storage of flammable or combustible liquids, except unstable liquids, operating at pressures not in excess of 2.5 p.s.i.g. shall be located in accordance with the following table.

The area of the combined vent shaft shall be of such area as is required to vent the largest of the standard vaults for which said vent shaft provides ventilation. All vent flues or portions of vent flues shall have no inclination from the horizontal of less than forty-five degrees. Nothing herein shall be construed as preventing more than one window or vent flue or combination of windows or vent flues to provide the necessary ventilating area. Any such vent flue shall be used for no other purpose than to provide ventilation from standard fireproof vaults. Such vent flue shall be constructed of brick, tile or concrete walls not less than four inches in thickness, and no combustible material shall be used in the construction or support of flues. Any vent flue opening in a standard fireproof vault shall be in the ceiling or as close as practicable to the ceiling. The unobstructed opening into the atmosphere shall be not less in area than the area of the vent flues. Every vent flue furnishing the required ventilation shall be equipped with not less than a sixty minute fire resistive door which shall be held normally closed, and such fire door shall have as its actuating mechanism a thermostatic releasing device to open the door. Such a door in the vent flue shall be so arranged that when the door is opened, the entire required area of the vent flue shall be available for ventilation purpose. All required windows shall be so provided with thermostatic releasing devices that a fire or an explosion in the vault shall cause such windows to open for the entire required ventilation area.

129.1-33. In any special room for flammable liquids, the door openings to other rooms or buildings shall be provided with non-combustible sills, raised not less than six inches above the floor of such special room. No more than forty drums (fifty-five gallon capacity per drum) of Class I flammable liquids shall be stored per pile and the pile shall be located at least forty feet from the nearest building; except that the pile can be located ten feet from the nearest building located on the same premises and under the same management. No more than eighty drums (fifty-five gallon capacity per drum) of Class II flammable liquids shall be stored per pile and the pile shall be located at least thirty feet from the nearest building; except that, the pile can be located ten feet from the nearest building located on the same premises and under the same management. Provided; however, where closed container drum storage on the premise is for resale only with no use other than repackaging the maximum amount of Class I flammable liquids stored per pile may be not more than 120 drums and not more than 160 drums for Class II flammable liquids. A minimum distance of five feet shall be maintained between all piles of Class I and/or Class II flammable liquids. There shall be a twelve foot wide access road within two hundred feet of each container. If equipped with a deluge-type sprinkler system, the size of the piles can be doubled and all safety clearances reduced by one half. All storage shall be located so that runoff due to leakage is not toward any structure.

SECTION 7. The City Comptroller, in such manner as he deems sufficient, is authorized to sell by negotiation or to advertise for sealed bids to be opened at a public sale and sell all or any portions of these Water Revenue Bonds herein authorized, such Bonds bearing interest at the rate or rates of not to exceed seven percent (7%) per annum. If sold at a public sale, the Bonds shall be sold to the highest acceptable bidder at a price of not less than par and accrued interest from date of these Bonds up to and including the date of delivery, and the basis of the determination of the best bid submitted shall be the acceptable bid for not less than par and specifying the rate or rates of interest which, together with a premium offered, if any, will provide the lowest interest cost to the City of Chicago.

After the Bonds have been sold pursuant to an accepted bid, they shall be printed and executed under the direction of the City Comptroller and bearing the rate or rates of interest as provided in the accepted bid, and the City Treasurer shall deliver the same to the purchaser upon receipt of the purchase price.

A report of the sale of said Bonds shall be filed by the City Comptroller with the City Clerk.

SECTION 8. The proceeds derived from the sale of these Water Revenue Bonds shall be segregated from all other accounts and shall be deposited into a Construction Fund and be used for improving and extending the Water System of the City of Chicago in the manner as referred to and described hereinabove in the preamble hereof and also in accordance with reports and maps prepared by the Commissioner of Water and Sewers of the City of Chicago on file in his office and also on file in the office of the City Clerk, and which are available for inspection by the public. The City Council hereby represents and certifies to the purchaser of the Bonds herein authorized and to all subsequent holders thereof that:

(1) The City expects to incur within six months of the delivery of the Bonds herein authorized substantial binding obligations with respect to the improvements for which the Bonds herein authorized are proposed to be issued, and in an amount not less than 2½% of the estimated total cost of the proposed improvements;

(2) Over 85% of the spendable proceeds of the Bonds herein authorized, including earnings thereon, will be expended on or before July 1, 1978, for the purpose of paying the cost of making the necessary improvements as herein provided for, and such date being within three (3) years following the date of issue of the Bonds herein authorized;

(3) Work on the construction of said improvements as herein provided for is expected to proceed with due diligence to completion;

(4) All of the principal proceeds of the Bonds herein authorized are needed for the purpose of paying the cost of constructing the necessary improvements, as herein provided for, including expenses incidental thereto and to the issuance of the Bonds herein authorized; and

(5) To the best of the knowledge and belief of the City Council, there are no facts, estimates or circumstances that would materially change the conclusions and representations set forth in this Section.

The City Council of said City further covenants and agrees with the purchaser and holders of the Bonds herein authorized that so long as any of said Bonds remain outstanding, the said City of Chicago and any of its officers will take no action in the investment of funds which may be to the credit of the Construction Fund hereinabove provided for in this Section, which action would result in making the interest payable on any of said Bonds herein authorized subject to federal income taxes by reason of said Bonds being classified as "arbitrage bonds" within the meaning of Section 103(d) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended, and any regulations promulgated or proposed thereunder, including Sections 1.103-13 and 1.103-14 of the Income Tax Regulations (26 CFR Part 1), as the same presently exist, or may from time to time hereafter be amended. The said City Council reserves the right for its proper officers to make any investment of such moneys permitted by law if, and when to the extent that said Section 103(d) or regulations promulgated thereunder shall be repealed or relaxed or shall be held void by final decision of a court of competent jurisdiction, but only if any investment made by virtue of such repeal, relaxation or decision would not, in the opinion of counsel of recognized competence in such matters, result in making the interest on said Bonds subject to federal income taxation.

SECTION 9. That the City hereby covenants and agrees with the holders of said Water Revenue Bonds and coupons hereby authorized that so long as the Bonds so authorized to be issued by the terms of this Ordinance, or any of them, remain outstanding and unpaid, either as to principal or interest, additional Water Revenue Bonds to share ratably and equally in the revenues of said Water System with the Bonds authorized to be issued under the provisions of this Ordinance shall be issued only if the revenues derived from the operation of the Water System for the completed fiscal year then next preceding were sufficient to pay all costs of operation and maintenance, and leave a balance equal to at least One Hundred Twenty-five percent (125%) of the amount constituting the maximum for any succeeding 12 month period of the combined principal and interest requirements on all the Obligations of the Water System then outstanding, the Water Revenue Bonds authorized by the provisions of this Ordinance, and including all Parity Water Revenue Bonds which may hereafter be issued and on the additional Water Revenue Bonds then to be issued.

SECTION 10. That the City hereby covenants and agrees with the holder or holders of the Bonds herein proposed to be issued, or any of them, that it will punctually perform all duties with reference to said Water System required by the Constitution and applicable laws of the State of Illinois, including the making and collection of sufficient rates for water services and segregating the revenues of said System and the application of the respective accounts of the Water Fund referred to and described elsewhere in this Ordinance, and that the City will take no action in relation to the Water System which would unfavorable affect the security of the Bonds herein authorized or the prompt payment of principal and interest thereon, until all of the Bonds herein authorized to be issued shall have been paid in full, both principal and interest, or unless and until provisions shall have been made for the payment of all such Bonds and interest thereon in full; and the City further covenants and agrees with the holders of said Bonds to maintain in good condition and continuously operate said Water System until all of said Bonds, both principal and interest, have been paid in full.

SECTION 11. That the Water System of the City of Chicago shall be operated on a fiscal year basis coinciding with the fiscal year of the City of Chicago. From and after the delivery of any Bonds issued under the provisions of this Ordinance and so long as any of the Revenue Bonds herein authorized remain outstanding and unpaid, the entire revenues derived from the operation of the Water System, including all future improvements and extensions thereof, shall be set aside as collected and be deposited in a separate fund designated as the "Water Fund of the Municipality of Chicago", sometimes herein referred to as the "Water Fund", which said Water Fund was heretofore created and referred to in the Ordinances heretofore adopted authorizing the issuance of obligations of the Water System of said City now outstanding and which by their terms are payable solely from the revenues to be derived from the operation of the Water System and which said Water Fund shall be and is hereby irrevocably pledged for the sole purpose of carrying out the covenants, terms and conditions of this Ordinance and the several Ordinances heretofore adopted authorizing the issuance of the obligations of the Water System now outstanding, and such Water Fund shall be continuously maintained until all the Revenue Bonds herein authorized and including the interest thereon shall have been paid in full, or until provision for the payment thereof has been made, and which said Water Fund shall be used only in paying the cost of operation and maintenance of said Water System and including all future improvements and extensions thereof, for the payment of the principal of and interest on all obligations of the Water System of said City heretofore issued and which are payable by their terms only from such revenues of said Water System, the payment of the principal of and interest on the Revenue Bonds herein authorized, the payment of the principal of and interest on any additional Water Revenue Bonds which may hereafter be issued pursuant to the terms of this Ordinance and which Bonds shall be on a parity with and share ratably and equally in the revenues of said Water System with the Revenue Bonds herein authorized and for the maintenance and continuation of and the expenditure from the several accounts hereinafter referred to and described.

SECTION 12. That after the issuance of the Bonds herein authorized, the entire revenues of the Water System shall be deposited as received into the Water Fund hereinabove provided for and designated as the "Water Fund of the Municipality of Chicago", and there shall be paid out of said Fund from time to time as required, the reasonable expenses of operation, maintenance, renewals, replacements and repairs of said Water System, which expenses shall include, without limiting the generality of the foregoing, salaries, wages, taxes, costs of materials and supplies, purchase of power, fuel, insurance, reasonable repairs and extensions necessary to render efficient service and all other incidental expenses which under recognized accounting principles are properly chargeable to the Water System.

Ten days prior to the maturity date of principal of and interest on any outstanding Obligations of the Water System, of the principal of and interest on the Water Revenue Bonds herein authorized then outstanding, and including the principal and interest of such Water Revenue Bonds as may hereafter be issued and which Bonds shall be on a parity with the Water Revenue Bonds herein authorized, and the aggregate of such principal and interest requirements for each fiscal year being hereinafter referred to as "Annual Debt Service Requirements", sufficient funds to pay such principal and interest as the same will become due shall be withdrawn from said Water Fund and be transferred to a separate account known as "Matured Water Bond" and "Interest Account" and all money so deposited in said account shall be used only for the purpose of paying the principal of and interest on such Water Revenue Bonds and Obligations of the Water System heretofore issued by the City and which are payable by their terms only from such revenues of the Water System as the same shall become due.

In addition to the withdrawal of moneys from said Water Fund as hereinabove provided for, there shall also be withdrawn funds to be transferred to two separate Funds in said Water Fund, which said Funds shall be designated respectively as the "Debt Service Reserve Fund" and the "Rehabilitation and Improvement Reserve Fund", the amounts to be deposited to said respective Funds and the uses to be made of said respective Funds being described as follows:

(1) During the year 1975, there shall be transferred to the Debt Service Reserve Fund the sum of $750,000, and for each year thereafter there shall be transferred to said Fund the sum of $1,500,000, which transfers of moneys shall continue until the said Fund aggregates that amount constituting the maximum interest requirement for any twelve-month period on all the Water Revenue Bonds, including Obligations of the Water System heretofore issued which may be outstanding, and thereafter no additional funds shall be transferred to said Fund except that when any money is paid out of said Fund, thereby reducing the amount in said Fund, the annual transfers to said Fund shall be resumed and continued until the Fund has been restored to the aggregate amount as hereinabove prescribed. Moneys transferred to said Fund shall be used to pay principal of and interest on any of the Water Revenue Bonds and Obligations of the Water System of said City at any time when there are insufficient funds available in the Matured Water Bond and Interest Account to pay such principal and interest as the same becomes due.

(2) During the year 1975 there shall be transferred to the Rehabilitaton and Improvement Reserve Fund the sum of $1,250,000, and for each year thereafter there shall be transferred to said Fund the sum of $2,500,000, which transfers shall continue until the amount transferred to said Fund aggregates the sum of $10,000,000 and thereafter no additional funds shall be transferred to said Fund except that when any money is paid out of such Fund, transfers to said Fund shall be resumed and continued at said annual rate until such Fund has been restored to the aggregate amount of $10,000,000.

Moneys in said Rehabilitation and Improvement Reserve Fund shall be available for use and shall be used for the purposes and in the manner as follows:

(1) In the event the moneys in the "Matured Water Bond and Interest Account" and also in the "Debt Service Reserve Fund" are not sufficient to pay promptly when due the "Annual Debt Service Requirements" for such fiscal year, then the amount of such deficiency shall be immediately withdrawn from such "Rehabilitation and Improvement Reserve Fund" and be deposited in the "Matured Water Bond and Interest Account" of the "Water Fund" of the City and be used for the payment of such annual debt service as the same will become due.

(2) To pay the cost of constructing any emergency replacement to any part of the Water System and deemed necessary in order to render efficient service, and when there are no other funds available to pay the cost thereof. To the extent necessary, funds may be withdrawn from said Fund and be used to pay the cost of making such emergency replacement and prior to the withdrawal of such funds, there shall be filed with the City Comptroller and the City Treasurer a certificate over the signature of the Commissioner of Water and Sewers to evidence that in his opinion the making of such improvement is an emergency replacement of a part of the Water System, that such replacement is essential for the continued efficient operation of the Water System, and that there are no oher moneys available to pay such costs.

(3) For use in the payment of the cost of constructing new facilities of the Water System or in the making of necessary improvements to the Water System and as such new facilities or improvements thereof may be considered "Capital Improvements" and as such new facilities or improvements may be set forth in Plans and a Report thereof prepared by the Commissioner of Water and Sewers of the City and submitted to and approved by the City Council of the City. Each expenditure to be made shall be made only after certification by such Commissioner of Water and Sewers and directed to the City Comptroller.

In the event there may be a deficiency in any fiscal year in the payments of the amounts into the "Debt Service Reserve Fund" and to the "Rehabilitation and Improvement Reserve Fund" as hereinabove provided for, then the amount of such deficiencies shall be carried over to the succeeding fiscal year and be included in that amount to be paid to such Fund during such fiscal year and payments shall continue to be made into said Funds until such time as the maximum amount has been deposited to said respective Funds. The Funds shall enjoy a priority as to payment in the order in which said respective Funds have hereinabove been set forth.

Any moneys which may remain in the Water Fund at the end of each fiscal year shall continue to be retained in said Fund and be available for appropriation for any proper purpose of the Water System.

Available moneys in the Funds as hereinabove described may, from time to time, be invested by the City Treasurer pursuant to the City Comptroller's instructions in the manner and within the limitations set forth in Chapter 7 of Section 7-41 of the Municipal Code of the City of Chicago, the moneys so invested to be invested in such securities and with such maturities as will assure moneys being available in said "Water Fund" to meet the needs of the several Funds of said "Water Fund." All accrued interest on any funds so invested shall be credited to the "Water Fund of the Municipality of Chicago" and be considered as income and revenues of the Water System of the City.

Said Water Fund, as hereinabove provided for, shall be used solely and only, and is hereby pledged for the purposes hereinabove mentioned.

SECTION 13. That while the Bonds authorized hereunder or any of them remain outstanding or unpaid, rates charged for water service shall be sufficient at all times to pay the cost of operation and maintenance of such Water System and sufficient to establish and maintain the several Funds in the Water Fund of the City as above designated, and sufficient to pay the interest on and principal of all Obligations of the Water System heretofore issued by said City and including the principal of and the interest on the Water Revenue Bonds herein authorized, and there shall be no reduction from the rates charged for water while any of the Obligations of the Water System of the City and including the Water Revenue Bonds herein authorized are unpaid.

SECTION 14. Any holder of a Bond or Bonds or of any of the coupons of any Bonds issued hereunder may, either in law or equity, by suit, action, mandamus or other proceedings enforce or compel performance of all duties required by this Ordinance, including the making and collection of sufficient rates for water service and application of income and revenue therefrom.

SECTION 15. The City covenants and agrees that so long as any of the Bonds herein authorized remain outstanding proper books and records and accounts will be kept by the City, separate and apart from all other records and accounts, showing correct and complete entries of all transactions of the Water System. Said City further covenants and agrees that it will prepare a statement of the Revenues and Expenditures of the Water System for each fiscal year and a Balance Sheet thereof, taken at the close of such fiscal year, accompanied by a certificate or opinion to be made by an independent firm of certified public accountants, showing the receipts and disbursements for and on account of the Water System, and that such audited annual report, in addition to whatever matters may be thought proper by the accountant to be included herein, shall without limiting the generality of the foregoing, include the following:

(a) A statement in detail of the income and expenditures of the Water System for such fiscal year.

(b) A balance sheet as of the end of the fiscal year.

All expenses incurred in the making of the audit required by this section shall be regarded and paid as a maintenance and operation expense, and it is further covenanted and agreed that a copy of each such audited annual report as described above shall be furnished to the holder of any of the Bonds at his request. The City shall furnish annually a report of the number of customers served by the Water System at the end of the year, the number of metered customers at the end of the year, and the number of unmetered customers at the end of the year, and the quantity of water pumped.

SECTION 16. That the provisions of this Ordinance shall constitute a contract between the City and the holders of the Bonds herein authorized to be issued and after the issuance of said Bonds, no changes, additions or alterations of any kind shall be made herein, except as hereinabove provided, until such time as all of said Bonds issued hereunder and the interest thereon shall be paid in full, or unless and until provision shall have been made for the payment of all such Bonds and interest thereon in full.

SECTION 17. That this Ordinance upon its being adopted by the City Council and approved by the Mayor shall be published by the City Clerk, in pamphlet form, by preparing at least 1,000 copies thereof, which copies are to be made available in his office for public inspection and distribution to members of the public who may wish to avail themselves of a copy of this Ordinance, and this Ordinance shall be in full force and effect upon its publication as herein and as by law provided.

The Commission or any agency the Commission may designate to take possession of animals for purposes of impounding, shall hold impounded animals, for seven days during which time reasonable means shall be used to facilitate their return to rightful owners. The owner of any animal impounded in any Animal Control Center may, at any time during visiting hours at the Animal Control Center, and before the sale or other disposal thereof as provided in this ordinance, redeem such animal by paying the fees and/or charges required by this ordinance and, in the case of an unlicensed animal, by additionally complying with the license requirements of this ordinance.

The seven day holding period shall not apply to animals relinquished by their owners to the Commission under owner signature authorizing the Commission to make immediate disposition of the animal at its discretion, nor shall any required holding period apply to animals received for impounding in obviously critical physical condition or for which immediate euthanasia shall be deemed proper for humane reasons by an authorized person.

Animals of unknown ownership shall be held for a minimum of seven days, or for such other length of time as the Executive Director may deem necessary to permit location of and redemption by rightful owners, except that wild animals which are noxious by their very nature such as wild rats and undomesticated rodents may be euthanized at once following an examination for zoonotic diseases.

Any animal remaining unredeemed after the prescribed holding period shall at once become the property of the Commission.

98-3.4. For purposes of impoundment the Executive Director shall utilize an Animal Control Center or the facilities of any humane society properly equipped and willing to impound animals, or, if the animal shall be of a species that may be better or more safely impounded elsewhere, the Executive Director may designate an alternate facility that is properly equipped and willing to accept the animal.

98-4. Whenever the Executive Director shall determine that any animal is kept within a building or upon any premises without food, water or proper care and attention for a period of time sufficient within his judgment to cause undue discomfort or suffering, and if the owner cannot be located after reasonable search, or if the owner shall be known to be absent due to injury, illness, incarceration or other involuntary circumstance, it shall be the duty of the Executive Director to obtain the necessary legal process to allow him or her to enter or to cause to have entered such building or premises to take possession and remove such animal to an Animal Control Center or to a humane society or other appropriate agency equipped, able and willing to accept the animal.

The Animal Control Center, humane society or other authorized receiving agency shall exercise due caution for the welfare and temporary safekeeping of any animal so removed, in conformance with policies to be prescribed by the Commission. After due notification to the owner, or, if the owner cannot be located or contacted after reasonable effort by the Animal Control Center, humane society or other authorized receiving agency, any animal so removed and unredeemed shall become the property of the Commission and disposed of under policies prescribed by the Commission.

98-5. It shall be the duty and responsibility of the owner of any animal which has bitten any other animal or person to notify the Commission of such bite. It also shall be the duty and responsibility of the owner to surrender such animal to an Animal Control Center within 24 hours after the animal has bitten any other animal or person, or to have such animal impounded at a humane society or other authorized agency. If, however, a licensed veterinarian is presented evidence that such animal has been inoculated against rabies within the time prescribed by law prior to the biting, such animal shall be confined on the premises of its owner and in a manner which shall prohibit such animal from biting any other animal or person for a period of 10 days. It further shall be the duty and responsibility of the owner to have such animal examined by a licensed veterinarian on the 10th day of impoundment or confinement or as soon thereafter as possible; provided, that the impoundment or confinement of the animal described above shall not be terminated until examination by a veterinarian.

If a licensed animal, which has bitten any animal or person, is to be impounded by the Commission, the owner shall pay the fees for housing of the animal as prescribed in this ordinance. Prior to release of said animal, vaccination and license certificates must be presented to the Executive Director or authorized representative.

It shall be unlawful for the owner of any animal, when notified that such animal has bitten any person to sell or give away such animal or to permit or allow such animal to be taken beyond the limits of the city.

98-6. Whenever any reputable institution of learning, hospital or allied institute within the City shall apply in writing to the President of the Board of Health for permission to use unclaimed impounded animals in a humane manner for the good of mankind and animals and the increase of knowledge relating to the cause, prevention, control, and the cure of disease and shall state the need for such use, the President of the Board of Health shall request the Commission to surrender to the said institution the animals for which it has applied. The Executive Director shall cause said animals to be surrendered to the institution for such use upon order of the Commission.

In executing the delivery of animals from the Commission to reputable institutions of learning and hospital laboratories, the following procedures and regulations shall prevail:

(A) No animal shall be surrendered for such medical research uses until it has been impounded for a period of at least ten days.

(B) Animals given up by their owners to the Commission may be surrendered by it for medical research under this ordinance only if owners shall signify in writing their approval for same to be done, on forms to be prescribed and provided by the Commission.

(C) No impounded animal wearing a City of Chicago license tag or any other readily traceable means of identification shall be released by the Commission for medical research until all reasonable effort has been expended to locate the rightful owner.

(D) Each institution obtaining animals under this ordinance shall adhere to the following regulations and be subject to inspection by the President of the Board of Health for purposes of determining compliance:

(1) no operation on animals obtained under this ordinance shall be made except with the sanction of the director or head of the laboratory where such operations are to be performed;

(2) in surgical operations likely to cause greater discomfort than that attending anesthetization, the animal shall first be rendered incapable of perceiving pain and shall be maintained in that condition until the surgical operation is ended;

(3) animals may be allowed to recover from surgical operations only when same have been carried out under anesthesia and with aseptic precautions, and, then, they shall be given high standard postoperative care;

(4) after an animal has been given to any institution and when identified prior to having been subjected to any research treatment, upon presentation of satisfactory evidence that the conditions of redemption have been met the animal shall be released to the owner;

(5) any complaints regarding the allocation, care, and use of animals for medical research shall be filed with the President of the Board of Health and heard by him within five days thereafter. On proof of a violation, the President of the Board of Health shall notify the Commission and the Commission shall refuse to allocate animals to the offending institutions.

98-7. The Commission shall designate, and the Executive Director shall cause to have posted or published, the day or days of each week and the hours when unredeemed animals in possession of the Commission shall be offered to the public for inspection and adoption. The Executive Director also shall designate, with the approval of the Commission, reasonable ownership standards deemed necessary for the care of adoptive animals, including inoculation and enforcement of neutering and spaying requirements for all dogs and cats adopted.

98-7.1. The Commission shall charge and collect the following fees and shall attach such additional requirements as are stated for release of animals from the Animal Control Center:

(1) Redemption fee, dog impounded as unlicensed stray—$15.00 plus mandatory licensing within 10 days;

(8) Redemption fee, animal permanently relinquished to Commission at owner's will, return of which later is requested if still on hand—$2.00 per day;

(9) Adoption fee, male dog — $10.00 or at higher bid price if auctioned, plus mandatory licensing within 10 days;

(10) Adoption fee, female dog—$10.00, or at higher bid price if auctioned, plus $20.00 deposit to guarantee spaying, plus mandatory licensing within 10 days;

(11) Adoption fee, male cat—$5.00;

(12) Adoption fee, female cat—$5.00 plus $20.00 deposit to guarantee spaying.

98-7.2. The Commission shall establish and the Executive Director shall enforce by administrative regulation the conditions and the fiscal procedure for refunding or otherwise paying out spaying deposits received from adopters of dogs and cats after such adopters furnish proof of spaying.

Any adopter of an animal from an Animal Control Center may exchange such animal for another of the same species and sex within 14 days from date of adoption if said animal has been examined by a veterinarian or by an authorized representative of the Executive Director and found to be physically or otherwise defective, or unadaptable to the home of the adopter, but no refund shall be made if exchange shall be declined by the adopter.

The Commission shall have the right to reposses irrevocably without refund or exchange privilege, any adopted animal if the owner is in default as to licensing and/or spaying requirements or any other provision of this ordinance.

98-8. Each owner, as defined in this ordinance, of each dog six months of age or older shall pay a City license fee for the privilege of owning such dog, unless such dog shall be within the confines of a veterinary hospital, pet shop, kennel, or humane society. Dogs which are the property of any subdivision of local, State or Federal government shall be issued complimentary licenses. Any dog properly trained to guide or otherwise assist a blind person shall be issued a complimentary license upon the presentation of proof of vaccination.

98-8.1. The Executive Director shall prepare, or cause to have prepared, license application forms that shall afford complete information as to the name, residence, and telephone, if any, of each applicant, along with full information regarding the animal to be licensed.

The Commission shall keep on file, or cause to be kept on file, for two years from date of issue, a copy of each application form so processed, or a copy of each license so issued on the basis of application.

The Commission may require persons who sell, transfer ownership of, give away, or otherwise dispose of animals, or of specified species of animals, to maintain records of such transactions, including information descriptive of the animals and identity and location of the recipients. If and when such is required, the Commission shall prescribe the length of time such records shall be kept on file by the preparer and shall be permitted access to the records upon demand.

98-8.2. Application for such license shall be made to the Director of Revenue. Before a license is issued, a certificate of inoculation against rabies for each dog, issued by the county rabies control officer, or by his deputy, or by a licensed veterinarian, shall be submitted to the Director of Revenue for examination. No license shall be issued for any dog unless such inoculation certificate bears a date within three years prior to the date of application for license or such other interval as approved by the Department of Agriculture of the State of Illinois. Such certificate shall be returned to the applicant after the current dog license number has been stamped thereon. When applying for a dog license by mail, the certificate of inoculation shall accompany the application. Said certificate shall be returned at the time the license tag is mailed to the applicant.

98-8.3. The license fee shall be payable annually, irrespective of ownership duration of less than one license year, shall be due on the first day of May of each year or at such later date as a dog may be acquired or attain six months of age, and shall expire on the 30th day of April. Evidence of vaccination shall consist of a certificate signed by the veterinarian. Type and brand of vaccine used shall be as approved by the Department of Agriculture of the State of Illinois. Vaccination shall be required every three years or at such other interval as required by the Department of Agriculture of the State of Illinois.

A current certificate of vaccination issued by a veterinarian licensed to practice in any other jurisdiction establishing vaccination with a vaccine approved by the Department of Agriculture of the State of Illinois, may be accepted by the Executive Director.

98-9. Each owner of each domestic equine animal of any age shall pay a license fee for the privilege of keeping or stabling or otherwise maintaining such animal within the City.

Additionally no person shall maintain any stable or barn for the housing or keeping of horses or other animals during the period of each year from April 15th to November 15th unless said barn or stable is so constructed or equipped with suitable screens as to prevent the ingress or egress of flies.

The location of said pipeline shall be as shown on the print hereto attached which, by reference, is made a part of this ordinance. Said pipeline shall be maintained and used in accordance with the ordinances of the City of Chicago and the directions of the Commissioner of Streets and Sanitation and of the Commissioner of Environmental Control. The grantee shall keep that portion of the public way over said pipeline in good condition and repair, safe for public travel and free from snow, ice, and dirt, to the satisfaction of the Commissioner of Streets and Sanitation and of the Commissioner of Environmental Control.

SECTION 2. The grantee agrees to pay the City of Chicago as compensation for the privileges herein granted the sum of Nineteen Thousand Eight Hundred Forty-six Dollars ($19,846.00) per annum, in advance, the first payment to be made as of September 10, 1974, and each succeeding payment on the same day and month annually thereafter. In case of the termination of the privileges herein granted, the grantee shall, nevertheless, remain liable to the City of Chicago for the annual compensation which shall have become due and payable under the provisions hereof before the structures and appliances herein authorized are removed and the public way is restored as herein required. It is covenanted and agreed that the City of Chicago will hold harmless the Badger Pipe Line Company from any claim or charge made by any other municipality for rent or compensation for the use of the above described right-of-way. It is further understood that the covenant herein mentioned in no way excludes Badger Pipe Line Company for payment of any tax or permit fee arising from licensing or doing business in any State, County or City.

SECTION 3. This ordinance is subject to amendment, modification or repeal, and permission and authority herein granted may be revoked by the Mayor, in his discretion, at any time without the consent of said grantee. Upon termination of the privileges herein granted, by lapse of time or otherwise, the grantee, without cost or expense to the City of Chicago, shall remove the structures and appliances herein authorized and restore the public way where disturbed by said structures or appliances or by the removal thereof, to a proper condition under the supervision and to the satisfaction of the Commissioner of Streets and Sanitation and of the Commissioner of Environmental Control; and in the event of the failure, neglect or refusal of said grantee so to do, the City of Chicago will have the choice of either performing said work and charging the cost thereof to said grantee, or determining what the cost of said work shall be and billing the grantee for said cost. The Commissioner of Streets and Sanitation and the Commissioner of Environmental Control shall have the authority to determine the cost of the above work and his decision as to the amount shall be final and binding.

SECTION 4. The Insurance Company and the grantee as provided in Section 5, will hold and save the City of Chicago harmless from any and all liability and expense, including judgments, costs and damages, for removal, relocation, alteration, repair, maintenance and restoration of the structures or appliances herein authorized and from any and all damages thereto on account of the location, construction, alteration, repair or maintenance of any public ways, bridges, subways, tunnels, vaults, sewers, water mains, conduits, pipes, poles and other utilities. For the City of Chicago to recover from the Insurance Company and grantee under this Section, it is not necessary that the City of Chicago first make said removal, relocation, alteration, repair, maintenance or restoration. The Commissioner of Streets and Sanitation and the Commissioner of Environmental Control is hereby authorized to determine what cost would be involved to perform said removal, relocation, alteration, repair, maintenance or restoration. The grantee and the Insurance Company, upon receiving written notification from the Commissioner of Streets and Sanitation and the Commissioner of Environmental Control of the cost shall pay said amount. The decision of the Commissioner of Streets and Sanitation and the Commissioner of Environmental Control shall be final and binding. It shall be the responsibility of the Badger Pipe Line Company to furnish the City of Chicago with a copy of proof of insurance (Certificate of Insurance) in an amount not less than $1,000,000.00 in General Liability and also name the City of Chicago as additionally co-insured. Said proof must be furnished to the Department of Finance, Real Estate Division, no later than 30 days prior to expiration of policy.

SECTION 5. The permission and authority herein granted shall not be exercised until a permit authorizing same shall have been issued by the City Comptroller and upon the faithful observance and performance of all (and singular) the conditions and provisions of this ordinance, and conditioned further to indemnify, keep and save harmless the City of Chicago against all liabilities, judgments, costs, damages and expenses which may in any wise come against said city in consequence of the permission given by this ordinance, or which may accrue against, be charged to or recovered from said city from or by reason or on account of any act or thing done or omitted or neglected to be done by the grantee in and about the construction, reconstruction, maintenance, use and removal of said structures or appliances and the restoration of the public way as herein required. Said Insurance Company shall be continuing in effect until the structures or appliances herein authorized are removed and the public way is restored as herein required.

SECTION 6. The grantee will further be liable to the City of Chicago for the annual compensation for the use of the public way during the time any of the portion of the pipeline is placed thereon.

On motion of Alderman Bilandic (seconded by Aldermen Natarus, Marzullo, Casey, Saperstein, Vrdolyak, Cohen, Stewart, Laurino, Kenner, Burke, Keane, Rhodes, Barnett, Roti, Sawyer, Laskowski, Evans, Cousins, Pucinski, Barden, Block, Hines, Stone, Kelley, Aiello, Ray, Joyce, Mell, Hagopian and Frost) the foregoing proposed resolution was Adopted, by yeas and nays as follows:

All the Aldermen praised the Mayor for having received national recognition for his achievements as the chief executive of one of the largest cities in the United States. All praised him for his leadership and his ability to keep a city this size in "working order" as compared to the financial difficulties and labor problems experienced by other cities. It was announced that this recognition as a Distinguished Public Servant was long overdue. All wished him continued good health and success in his current term of office.

The seconding Aldermen were unanimous in agreeing that the honor accorded the Mayor by over three hundred mayors was an honor richly deserved. It was noted that it was most unusual for a City as large as Chicago to run so smoothly and that this was due to the untiring efforts of Mayor Daley and his ability to select outstanding assistants to help in the task. It was also noted that the award to the Mayor referred to him as "durable" and it was suggested that it should be changed to "dependable" because he could always be relied upon to keep his word. All agreed that the rest of the country was just finding out about the really tremendous job Mayor Daley is performing. All wished him continued years of long life and good health.

Honorable Richard J. Daley, Mayor, then addressed the members of the City Council thanking them for their kind words. He also expressed his gratitude to his parents, his teachers and all the wonderful people who had helped him on his way. He concluded by saying that "no man ever walks alone".

REGULAR ORDER OF BUSINESS RESUMED.

The following is said ordinance as passed:

Be It Ordained by the City Council of the City of Chicago:

SECTION 1. That the Commissioner of Aviation and the City Comptroller, subject to the approval of the Corporation Counsel as to form and legality, are authorized to execute a Consent to the attached sublease agreement between Trans World Airlines, Inc., and DHL Corporation, for the sublease of certain premises at Chicago-O'Hare International Airport.

This Agreement made this 11th day of December, 1974, by and between Trans World Airlines, Inc., a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of Delaware, having an office and place of business at 605 Third Avenue, New York, New York (hereinafter called "TWA"), and DHL Corporation, a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of California, having its principal office located at 826 Cowan Road, Burlingame, California 94010 (hereinafter called DHL).

WITNESSETH:

Whereas, TWA leases certain premises, including improvements thereon, at Chicago-O'Hare International Airport (hereinafter called "ORD") under an agreement dated as of March 27, 1964, as amended, with the City of Chicago (hereinafter called "Main Lease"); and

Whereas, DHL desires to sublease from TWA and TWA is willing to sublease to DHL a portion of said premises and provide services related thereto to DHL subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement;

Now, Therefore, for and in consideration of the mutual covenants hereinafter contained, TWA and DHL hereby agree as follows:

1. TWA subleases to DHL for its exclusive use approximately three hundred and ten (310) square feet of office space on the second floor of the TWA Air Cargo Building located in the said premises which includes 55 square feet of toilet facilities (mezzanine level—new annex section—first office area), as identified on Exhibit A attached hereto and made a part hereof (hereinafter referred to as "Subleased Premises"). TWA shall furnish heat, light and electricity, from and to the extent capable, using facilities and fixtures presently installed in the subleased premises, but should DHL require further or additional utilities, then and in such event the cost of obtaining, installing and maintaining the same shall be at DHL's cost and expense. The costs of installation and use of any and all communications equipment shall be borne by DHL. DHL shall provide its own trash receptacle (location to be designated by TWA) and all costs pertaining to trash removal shall be borne by DHL.

2. This Agreement shall commence on the date on which DHL occupies the Subleased Premises for a term of one year and shall continue in effect from month to month thereafter until terminated by either party giving to the other not less than fifteen (15) days written notice.

3. Subject to DHL obtaining the written approval of TWA's General Manager—Cargo Sales and Services at ORD, DHL at its sole cost and expense may install an identification sign at TWA's inbound customer service area (inside). It is understood and agreed that no exterior identification sign or display shall be installed by DHL or the TWA Air Cargo Building unless DHL obtains written approval of TWA's General Manager—Cargo Sales and Services—Central Region, and the approval of the City of Chicago, if required.

4. DHL's use of the Subleased Premises shall be for the purpose of preparing proper documentation for shipments originating, transferring or destined for transfer at ORD or other airports, for servicing of DHL customers, and for no other purpose whatsoever. No warehouse or terminal facilities will be provided by TWA.

5. DHL agrees to accept the Subleased Premises in an "as is" condition and shall keep and maintain the space in good condition and repair. Unless otherwise agreed upon by TWA and DHL, DHL shall obtain at DHL's sole cost and expense usual janitorial services to maintain the Subleased Preises in a clean, neat, orderly and presentable appearance.

6. TWA's General Manager—Cargo Sales and Services at ORD shall designate the ingress/egress route that DHL, its officers, employees, agents, customers, suppliers, contractors and invitees may use to move to and from the Subleased Premises. TWA may change said route upon 15 days notice in advance to DHL's local manager; it is agreed, however, that TWA shall not select an ingress/egress route that will impose undue restraints on DHL's normal operations, the intent being that TWA shall have the right to insure that DHL's operations will not interfere with TWA's normal operations.

7. TWA agrees to designate an area in its automobile parking lot for use by DHL officers and employees at their own risk. The area shall be sufficient in size to accommodate the number of employees on duty.

8. DHL, its officers, employees, agents, customers, suppliers, contractors and invitees shall be bound by and observe all rules and regulations promulgated under the Main Lease or made by TWA's General Manager—Cargo Sales and Services at ORD governing the use and occupancy (including but not limited to, action to conserve heat and electricity and control of passenger and vehicular traffic ingress/egress) of the Subleased Premises, provided, however, that no such rule or regulation shall conflict with any matter specifically set forth in this Agreement.

Notwithstanding anything to the contrary herein contained, it is expressly agreed that TWA shall be released from its obligations hereunder in the event and to the extent that performance is delayed or prevented by any cause reasonably beyond its control, including, without limitation, acts of God, public enemies, wars, insurrection, or acts or orders of Governmental authorities, or by fire, flood, explosion, riots, or strikes; provided however, that nothing herein contained shall require TWA to accede to demands of labor unions or to demands of its employees which it considers unreasonable.

TWA agrees to make such arrangements and pay such premiums as may be requisite so that TWA's employees performing services under this agreement shall, while so performing such services, continue to be covered by the same workmen's compensation arrangements as apply while such employees are engaged in their employment by TWA. Except for workmen's compensation claims of TWA employees, DHL will assume for itself and for third persons full responsibility for any act, omission or negligence of any employee of TWA while such employee may be performing duties for DHL under this agreement and DHL agrees to idemnify and hold TWA and third persons harmless from and against any and all losses, claims, damages or expenses, including, without limitation, reasonable attorneys' fees, arising or growing out of the performance of this Agreement.

In the event of termination for any reason of the Main Lease, then this Agreement shall terminate concurrently therewith.

No waiver of or election by TWA to disregard a default on the part of DHL shall act to prohibit TWA from exercising its rights under this Agreement in the event of subsequent or continuing defaults by DHL. No termination of this Agreement shall affect any rights or obligations accrued as of the date of such termination.

13. DHL shall promtly surrender and vacate the Subleased Premises used or occupied by it upon the termination of this Agreement. Execution of Agreement Authorized with U.S. Dept. of Agriculture Forest Service for Program Entitled "Municipal Wood Utilization".

The Committee on Finance submitted a report recommending that the City Council pass the following proposed ordinance transmitted therewith:

Be It Ordained by the City Council of the City of Chicago:

SECTION 1. That the Commissioner of the Department of Streets and Sanitation is hereby authorized to participate in an agreement with the United States Department of Agriculture entitled "Municipal Wood Utilization" in substantially the following form:

Memorandum of Understanding

United States Department of Agriculture Forest Service

and

City of Chicago, Illinois

For Conducting A Program to Develop,
Manage, and Utilize
The Forest Resources
As Authorized by

The Agricultural Act of 1862 and the Current Appropriation Act for the Department of Interior and Related Agencies

(Forest Service, General Forestry Assistance).

This Agreement is by and between the City of Chicago, Illinois by and through the Bureau of Forestry, Department of Streets & Sanitation (hereinafter called the "City"), and the Area Director, U.S. Forest Service, Upper Darby, Pennsylvania, (hereinafter called the "Forest Service").

Whereas, the Congress of the United States has authorized highly specialized forestry assistance for the purpose of developing, managing, and utilizing the forest resources of the nation to maximize their contribution to the people, the economy, the environment, and resource wealth, and

Whereas, the Forest Service desires to carry out this work in cooperation with City Foresters through use of the facilities of the City to the maximum extent possible to provide technical services in order to avoid duplication of services, for economy and to limit the number of sources of advice for those who will benefit from the program, and

Whereas, the City has an organization equipped to provide the necessary supervision and support for technical services to be provided;

Now, Therefore, the parties hereto mutually agree to conduct a program for the purpose of determining the highest and best use of wood material being removed from within the City limits of Chicago, to establish a facility or facilities to utilize such material.

Further, the parties hereto agree as follows:

That this Agreement does not constitute a financial document and that financial and other assistance to be furnished in carrying out this program is contingent on appropriation of funds for this purpose and on approval of project and financial plans which are made a part of this agreement.

Administration and Supervision

The Forest Service and the City will jointly plan the program so that the services of personnel of both the Forest Service and the City are coordinated and that the most effective use is made of the skills available in both agencies. The work of those personnel supervised by the City will be planned in accordance with the joint arrangements between the two parties.

Periodic inspection of the work of these technicians will be made by the City. The Forest Service periodically will review with the City the conduct of the program in addition to providing services as mutually agreed upon.

The Forest Service will, so far as feasible, provide special services and administrative assistance to the City such as can best be provided by a central agency. Among these services would be information on improvements in procedures, tools, equipment, and techniques developed through Federal research or by others; assistance in technical training of personnel; and providing highly specialized technical advice and assistance.

The City and the Forest Service may agree jointly that, under certain circumstances, effective conduct of this cooperative program will be facilitated by subsidiary agreements between legally established agencies of the City or contracts with qualified individuals, consultants, and firms. When this is done the responsibility for proper handling of the work shall remain with the City agency.

Scope of the Program

The Federal financial assistance under this agreement is for providing technical forestry services for the purpose of advising timberland owners, associations, wood-using industries and others in the application of forest management principles and processing of forest products. Such services are for the further purpose of developing, managing, and utilizing the forest resources of the Nation to maximize their contribution to the people, the economy, the environment, and resource wealth.

Financing

A Project Plan and Financial Plan designated Schedule I, is attached showing a detailed description of work to be accomplished in terms of quantity and results or benefits to be derived therefrom; specific starting and completion dates; and total estimated project cost, the source of funds, and the maximum commitment of the Forest Service for the project.

The City will make the original disbursements for its expenses for each project and will claim reimbursement from the Federal Government each year by June 30. If it becomes apparent during the Fiscal Year that the City cannot meet its commitment for any project(s) under this Agreement, the Forest Service may reduce the budget for such project(s).

Personnel employed on or assigned to projects under this Agreement will be identified so they can be clearly distinguished from those financed under other cooperative programs.

City expenditures used as a basis for reimbursement by the Federal Government under provisions of this Agreement and financial plan shall not be used to offset fund-matching requirements under other Federal programs.

The cost of each project to the City for the purpose of reimbursement from the Federal Government shall be reduced by the amount of any fees or other charges made by the City for work done in connection with the said project.

Financial Review and Audit

The City agrees to maintain its financial records pertaining to this program in a manner that will facilitate examination by the Forest Service. Access to the records will be provided at reasonable times to authorized officials of the Forest Service or other Federal agencies required to examine such records.

Reports

The City will furnish the Forest Service progress reports for each project under this Agreement at the end of the project and at the end of each fiscal year or as specified in the financial plan. Progress will be reported in definite terms of the end product as to quantity and results or benefits.

Cooperation with Other Organizations and Programs

Full advantage will be taken of services and assistance available from other agencies of the Federal and City government. The City will endeavor to coordinate its conduct of this program with related programs of other agencies and organizations.

Member-Delegate

No Member or Delegate to Congress, or Resident Commissioner, shall be admitted to any share or part of this Agreement or to any benefit that may arise therefrom, but this provision shall not be construed to extent to this Agreement if made with a corporation for its general benefit.

Nondiscrimination in Employment

In all other cases, this assurance shall obligate the City for the period during which the Federal financial assistance is extended to him by this Agreement. This assurance is given in consideration of the Federal financial assistance extended in this Agreement to the City by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The City recognizes and agrees that such Federal financial assistance will be extended in reliance on the representations and agreements made in this assurance. The City further agrees that the United States in addition to any other rights and remedies provided by this assurance, the Civil Rights Act of 1964, or the Regulations issued thereunder, shall have the right to enforce this Agreement by suit for specific performance or by any other available remedy under the laws of the United States or the City in which the Breach or violation occurs.

Schedule I—1

Wood Utilization Project Proposal

Bureau of Forestry
Parkways and Beautification
City of Chicago

Project Title: Municipal Wood Utilization

Background: The Chicago Bureau of Forestry, Parkways and Beautification is charged with the establishment, protection and maintenance of all community trees in the Urban Forest environment for the benefit and enjoyment of our four million residents and daily visitors.

Problem: The major portion of the Bureau's work involves the removal of dead, diseased and dangerous trees and the maintenance trimming of the existing street shade trees to conform to urban landscape requirements. A considerable volume of wood fiber is extracted from within the city limits each year. The Bureau has estimated that 15,000 American Elm trees and 10,000 trees of other species will be removed in 1975. This estimated volume alone amounts to over 3.75 million board feet of useable lumber plus 2 million cubic feet of branch and top material that is currently being wasted or not being utilized to the maximum potential. Additional, significant volumes of wood fiber waste material are generated within the Cook County Forest Preserve that has an estimated Elm population of 1.4 million trees.

Project Objective: (1) To determine the highest and best use of wood material being removed from within the City limits of Chicago, and (2) to establish a facility or facilities to utilize such material.

A. Plan of Work

1. Determine the nature, source and volume of lumber (dunnage) and wood fiber material in metropolitan Chicago.

2. Determine the nature and extent of lumber (dunnage) and wood fiber market in metropolitan Chicago.

3. Determine the suitability of waste wood material to fill existing local markets.
4. Encourage and develop methods of processing waste wood material to its highest and best use.

B. Personnel

Employ a project leader who shall be a qualified Forest Products Technologist possessing a B.S./B.A. in wood technology, forest products, forest production or general forestry with a minimum of 1 year's experience in forestry with a minimum of 1 year's experience in forest products, forest production or general forestry products utilization or 3 year's experience in municipal wood/wood fiber utilization. The project leader shall work under the direct supervision of the Chicago City Forester IV.

C. Accomplishments

Accomplishments shall be periodically reported on the Multiple Accomplishment Reporting System (MARS) as adopted by the U.S. Forest Service and the Program Accomplishment Reporting System (PARS) as adopted by the City of Chicago. Target goals shall approach 3.3 million cubic feet over the duration of the project. The duration of the project shall be two years.

In case said premises shall be rendered untenantable by fire or other casualty during said term, Lessor may rebuild said premises within thirty days, but failing so to do, or if said premises shall be destroyed by fire or other casualty, this lease thereby shall be terminated; in the event of such a termination of this lease, Lessee shall be chargeable with rent only to the date of such fire or other casualty, and if Lessor shall rebuild within thirty days, Lessee shall be excused from payment of rent for the period of such rebuilding.

Lichtmann, Chairman of the Chicago Commission on Historical and Architectural Landmarks (referred to Your Committee on January 27, 1972) to designate the Reliance Building as a Chicago Landmark, begs leave to recommend that Your Honorable Body pass the proposed ordinance, which is transmitted herewith.

(Signed) EDWIN P. FIFIELSKI,
Chairman.
(Signed) TIMOTHY C. EVANS,
Vice-Chairman.

On motion of Alderman Evans the proposed ordinance transmitted with the foregoing committee report was Passed, by yeas and nays as follows:

Yeas—Aldermen Roti, Barnett, Kenner, Evans, Lathrop, Sawyer, Wilinski, Cousins, Adduci, Vrdolyak, Bilandic, Kwak, Madrzyk, Jaksy, Barden, Shannon, Hines, Joyce, Kelley, Stewart, Stemberk, Lipinski, Rhodes, Marzullo, Zydlo, Ray, Washington, Cross, Hagopian, Keane, Gabinski, Mell, Frost, Laskowski, Aiello, Casey, Laurino, Gutstein, Pucinski, Natarus, Oberman, Simpson, Cohen, Schulter, Block, Stone—46.

Nays—None.

The following is said ordinance as passed:

WHEREAS, The Commission on Chicago Historical and Architectural Landmarks has determined that the structure known as the Reliance Building, located at No. 32 N. State Street, Chicago, Illinois, designed in 1894 principally by Charles B. Atwood for D. H. Burnham & Co., is worthy of designation as a "Chicago Landmark," and accordingly has recommended its designation as such by the City Council; and

WHEREAS, The Commission has found that the Reliance Building meets the criteria for designation as set forth in Chapter 21, Section 21-64(b) of the Municipal Code of Chicago, namely:

> Its character, interest or value as part of the development, heritage or cultural characteristics of the City of Chicago, State of Illinois, or the United States.
> Its exemplification of the cultural, economic, social or historic heritage of the City of Chicago.
> Its embodiment of distinguishing characteristics of an architectural type or specimen.
> Its identification as the work of an architect or master builder whose individual work has influenced the development of the City of Chicago.
> Its embodiment of elements of architectural design, detail, materials or craftsmanship which represent a significant architectural innovation; and

WHEREAS, John Root, Daniel Burnham and Charles Atwood have indeed influenced the development of the City of Chicago. The Reliance Building represents the culmination of 125 years of progressive development in iron framing and is considered by many to be the most brilliant and most dramatic production among a group of buildings in Chicago which are known all over the world as the first masterpieces of modern architecture and of buildings which we group together now and call the Chicago School; and

WHEREAS, The Reliance Building masterfully represents the many characteristics particular to what is known as the "Chicago School" of architecture. Subtly ornamented and finely proportioned, this early skyscraper exhibits few details borrowed from historic styles. Most of its facade is open and sheathed only in narrow terra-cotta bands that enclose massive expanses of glass. This open, or "curtain", wall serves as a skin to envelope the building's metal skeleton. Wide "Chicago windows" are incorporated into the whole of the building; and

WHEREAS, The Reliance was the first skyscraper to make use of white-glazed terra-cotta. Pioneered in the Reliance Building, this terra-cotta became more and more prevalent during the decades that followed as a practical and beautiful building material; and

WHEREAS, The Reliance Building is truly the forerunner of the modern, glass, curtain-wall skyscraper. In buildings of this sort, support is provided by an iron and steel skeletal system which carries the outer window walls as well as the floors. Simple and open, the Reliance Building now mingles with the scape of the Chicago "Loop," but at the time of its construction it was a daring innovation. When completed, the 16-story building could not be compared to any other in the city. The cream-white highly glazed terra-cotta on the upper stories made it quite distinctive, and it stood out among the more drab looking buildings around it. Its wide expanses of glass, displayed in broad bands of horizontal Chicago windows, alternating with projecting bays, provided light and air in contrast to the increasing denseness that was evident even at that time in the "Loop"; and

WHEREAS, The Commission has concluded that the Reliance Building is truly important to Chicago, and deserves to be preserved, protected, enhanced and perpetuated, and the Commissioner of Development and Planning of the City of Chicago and the City Council Committee on Cultural and Economic Development have concurred in the Commission's recommendation that the Reliance Building be designated as a Chicago Landmark; now, therefore,

Be It Ordained by the City Council of the City of Chicago:

SECTION 1. The structure known as the Reliance Building located on property legally described as:

> "Lot 1 of Assessor's Resubdivision of Sub-lots 1 to 5 of Assessor's Division of Lots 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 of Block 58, Original Town Section 9, Township 30 North, Range 14 East of the Third Principal Meridian," and commonly known as No. 32 N. State Street, Chicago, Illinois, is hereby designated as a "Chicago Landmark" in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 21, Section 21-64(f) of the Municipal Code of Chicago.

SECTION 2. The Commission on Chicago Historical and Architectural Landmarks is hereby directed to create a suitable plaque appropriately identifying said landmark and to affix said plaque to the property designated as a Chicago Landmark in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 21, Section 21-64(f) of the Municipal Code of Chicago.

SECTION 3. The Commission on Chicago Historical and Architectural Landmarks is directed to comply with the provisions of Chapter 21, Section 21-64(g) of the Municipal Code of Chicago.

SECTION 4. This ordinance shall take effect on and after its due passage and publication.

Be it Ordained by the City Council of the City of Chicago:

Section 1. Chapter 152 of the Municipal Code of Chicago is hereby amended by deleting in their entirety Sections 1 through 8 and substituting therefore, new Sections 152-1 through 152-21.

152-3. Application and Fee.

Every applicant for a permit to maintain, operate, or conduct a massage establishment shall file an application in duplicate, under oath, with the City Clerk upon a form provided by the City Clerk, and pay a non-refundable filing fee of $100.00 to the Department of Revenue, who shall issue a receipt which shall be attached to the application filed with the City Clerk. The City Clerk shall, within fifteen days thereafter, refer copies of such application and all additional information to the Board of Health, Fire Department, Building Department and the Administrative Official. The City Agencies shall within 45 days, inspect the premises proposed to be operated as a massage establishment, and make recommendations to the Administrative Official concerning compliance with the Codes of the City of Chicago. Upon receipt of the recommendations of the respective City Agencies, the Administrative Official shall notify the applicant as to whether his application has been granted, denied, or held for further investigation. The period of such additional investigation shall not exceed an additional 30 days unless otherwise agreed to by the applicant. The Administrative Official shall advise the applicant in writing as to whether the application has been granted or denied. If the application is denied or held for further investigation, the Administrative Official shall advise the applicant in writing of the reason for such refusal.

The failure or refusal of the applicant to promptly give any information relevant to the investigation of the application, or the refusal or failure of applicant to appear at any reasonable time and place for examination under oath regarding said application, or the refusal of applicant to submit to or cooperate with any inspection required by this section, shall be grounds for denial of the application.

152-4. Application for License for Massage Establishment.

The application for a license to operate a massage establishment shall set forth the exact nature of the massage to be administered and the proposed place and facilities thereof.

In addition thereto, any applicant for a license, and each partner or limited partner of an applicant, if a partnership applicant, and each officer and director of a corporate applicant and any stockholder of a corporate applicant holding more than 10 per cent of the stock of the corporate applicant, shall furnish the following information:

(3) The business, occupation, or employment of each individual for the three years immediately preceding the date of application.

(4) The previous experience of the individual in massage or similar business.

(5) Whether the individual has had any license denied, revoked, or suspended in the City of Chicago or any other state or city for a massage establishment, the reason therefor, and the business activity or occupation of the individual subsequent to such suspension, revocation, or denial.

(6) Any conviction, forefeiture of bond, or plea of nolo contendere upon any criminal violation or city ordinance violation (except minor traffic violations), within a five year period.

(7) If the applicant is a corporation, or a partner of any partnership is a corporation, then the name of the corporation shall be set forth exactly as shown in the Articles of Incorporation, together with the state of incorporation and proof of authority to do business in the State of Illinois.

Upon receipt of the recommendations of the respective agencies and with the information contained in the application, together with all additional information provided therein, the Administrative Official shall direct the issuance of the license by the City Clerk to the applicant to maintain, operate, or conduct a massage establishment, unless the Administrative Official shall find:

(1) That the operation of the massage establishment as proposed by the applicant, if permitted, would not comply with the applicable laws of the State of Illinois and the City of Chicago including but not limited to the building, health planning, housing, fire prevention, and zoning codes of the City of Chicago; or

(2) That the applicant or any other person who shall be directly or indirectly engaged in the management and operation of the massage establishment has been convicted of (a) a felony, (b) an offense involving sexual misconduct with children, (c) any provision of Article 11 of Chapter 38 of the Illinois Revised Statutes; or

(3) That the operation of the massage establishment as proposed by the applicant, if permitted, would violate the provisions of this ordinance.

The license provided herein shall be for an initial term ending August 31 next following the issuance of the license, unless sooner suspended or revoked. Such license must be renewed annually, and any renewal shall be for a term of one year from September 1st to August 31st.

152-6. Revocation or Suspension of License.

Any license issued for a massage establishment may be revoked or suspended by the Administrative Official after a hearing, for a good cause. The Administrative Official shall give to the licensee at least 15 days written notice of the charges and an opportunity for a public hearing before the Administrative Official, at which time the licensee may present evidence bearing upon the question. Cause for revocation or suspension shall include the violation of the provisions of this ordinance or of any criminal statute of the State of Illinois by the applicant, or by any employee of the licensee or any masseuse or masseur employed by the licensee; provided that the violation of this ordinance or any criminal law of the State of Illinois shall not be a cause for revocation or suspension unless the licensee shall have had actual or constructive knowledge of such violations in the exercise of due diligence. It shall also be cause for revocation or suspension that the applicant has made a false statement on any application for permit under this ordinance, or in the event that the licensee shall refuse to permit any authorized police officer or authorized member of the Police Department, Building Department, Board of Health or of the Fire Department of the City of Chicago to inspect the premises or the operations thereof at reasonable times.

152-7. Permit for Masseur or Masseuse.

152-8. Application for Masseur or Masseuse.

The application for a permit for a masseur or a masseuse shall contain the following:

(1) Name and residence.

(2) Social Security number.

(3) Written evidence that the applicant is at least 18 years of age.

(4) Business, occupation, or employment of the applicant for three years immediately preceding the date of application.

(5) Whether the applicant has ever been convicted of, pleaded nolo contendere to, or suffered a forfeiture of bond on a charge of committing any violation of the city ordinances or state statute (except minor traffic violations). In the event any answer is in the affirmative, then the applicant shall state the place and court in which such conviction, plea, or forfeiture was had, the specific charge, and the sentence imposed as a result thereof.

(6) The applicant shall further undergo a physical examination and present the written results thereof for contagious and communicable diseases which shall include a recognized blood test for syphilis, a culture for gonorrhea, a test or tests which will demonstrate freedom from tuberculosis, and each test shall have been made by a licensed physician and all laboratory tests shall be in laboratories approved by the City of Chicago. The applicant shall then present a certificate with the results of each such examination signed by a physician licensed in the State of Illinois stating that the person examined is either free from any contagious or communicable disease or is incapable of communicating any such disease to others. Each applicant shall undergo the physical examination provided herein and present to the City Clerk the certificate required herein prior to the commencement of employment and at least once each 12 months thereafter.

There shall be excepted from the provisions of this sub-section 152-8 any person who shall be registered as a physical therapist by the State of Illinois under the provisions of Section 221 et seq of Chapter 91 of the Illinois Revised Statutes, which person shall not also be required to obtain a permit as masseur or masseuse.

152-9. Issuance of Permit for Masseur or Masseuse.

Each permit for a masseur or masseuse, pursuant to this ordinance, shall terminate on August 31st following its issuance, and any renewal shall be for a one year term commencing September 1st and ending August 31st thereafter, and shall be carried by the permit holder while engaged in his or her employment.

152-10. Revocation of Permit for Masseur or Masseuse.

A permit for masseur or masseuse may be revoked or suspended where it appears that the masseur or masseuse has been convicted of any offense which would be cause for denial of a permit upon an original application, has made a false statement on an application for a permit, or has committed an act in violation of this ordinance. The Administrative Official shall give the permit holder a written notice specifying the grounds of suspension or revocation. The permit holder may, within 15 days from the date of such revocation or suspension, file a written request for public hearing, which hearing shall be held within 15 days after the filing of request for same, and at which time the permit holder may present evidence bearing upon the question. The Administrative Official shall then issue a written order as to whether the permit shall be revoked or suspended within five days after the date of hearing.

152-11. Necessary Facilities.

No massage establishment shall receive a permit or be operated, established, or maintained, unless the establishment shall comply with each of the following minimum regulations:

98-3.1. Any stray animal in the public way or within a public place or upon private premises of any person other than the owner shall be immediately impounded by an animal control officer.

98-3.2. If there be no means by which any dangerous or vicious animal can be safely impounded, such animal may be destroyed by any police officer under these emergency circumstances. In all cases where such an animal has been destroyed by a police officer, and a period of less than ten days has elapsed since the day on which such animal bit any person it shall be the duty of the police officer to immediately notify the Commission.

98-3.3. The Commission or any agency the Commission may designate to take possession of animals for purposes of impounding, shall hold impounded animals, for seven days during which time reasonable means shall be used to facilitate their return to rightful owners. The owner of any animal impounded in any Animal Control Center may, at any time during visiting hours at the Animal Control Center, and before the sale or other disposal thereof as provided in this ordinance, redeem such animal by paying the fees and/or charges required by this ordinance and, in the case of an unlicensed animal, by additionally complying with the license requirements of this ordinance.

Animals of unknown ownership shall be held for a minimum of seven days, or for such other length of time as the Executive Director may deem necessary to permit location of and redemption by rightful owners, except that wild animals which are noxious by their very nature such as wild rats and undomesticated rodents may be euthanized at once following an examination for zoonotic diseases.

Any animal remaining unredeemed after the prescribed holding period shall at once become the property of the Commission.

98-3.4. For purposes of impoundment the Executive Director shall utilize an Animal Control Center or the facilities of any humane society properly equipped and willing to impound animals, or, if the animal shall be of a species that may be better or more safely impounded elsewhere, the Executive Director may designate an alternate facility that is properly equipped and willing to accept the animal.

98-4. Whenever the Executive Director shall determine that any animal is kept within a building or upon any premises without food, water or proper care and attention for a period of time sufficient within his judgment to cause undue discomfort or suffering, and if the owner cannot be located after reasonable search, or if the owner shall be known to be absent due to injury, illness, incarceration or other involuntary circumstance, it shall be the duty of the Executive Director to obtain the necessary legal process to allow him or her to enter or to cause to have entered such building or premises to take possession and remove such animal to an Animal Control Center or to a humane society or other appropriate agency equipped, able and willing to accept the animal.

The Animal Control Center, humane society or other authorized receiving agency shall exercise due caution for the welfare and temporary safekeeping of any animal so removed, in conformance with policies to be prescribed by the Commission. After due notification to the owner, or, if the owner cannot be located or contacted after reasonable effort by the Animal Control Center, humane society or other authorized receiving agency, any animal so removed and unredeemed shall become the property of the Commission and disposed of under policies prescribed by the Commission.

98-5. It shall be the duty and responsibility of the owner of any animal which has bitten any other animal or person to notify the Commission of such bite. It also shall be the duty and responsibility of the owner to surrender such animal to an Animal Control Center within 24 hours after the animal has bitten any other animal or person, or to have such animal impounded at a humane society or other authorized agency. If, however, a licensed veterinarian is presented evidence that such animal has been inoculated against rabies within the time prescribed by law prior to the biting, such animal shall be confined on the premises of its owner and in a manner which shall prohibit such animal from biting any other animal or person for a period of 10 days. It further shall be the duty and responsibility of the owner to have such animal examined by a licensed veterinarian on the 10th day of impoundment or confinement or as soon thereafter as possible; provided, that the impoundment or confinement of the animal described above shall not be terminated until examination by a veterinarian.

If a licensed animal, which has bitten any animal or person, is to be impounded by the Commission, the owner shall pay the fees for housing of the animal as prescribed in this ordinance. Prior to release of said animal, vaccination and license certificates must be presented to the Executive Director or authorized representative.

It shall be unlawful for the owner of any animal, when notified that such animal has bitten any person to sell or give away such animal or to permit or allow such animal to be taken beyond the limits of the city.

98-6. Whenever any reputable institution of learning, hospital or allied institute within the City shall apply in writing to the President of the Board of Health for permission to use unclaimed impounded animals in a humane manner for the good of mankind and animals and the increase of knowledge relating to the cause, prevention, control, and the cure of disease and shall state the need for such use, the President of the Board of Health shall request the Commission to surrender to the said institution the animals for which it has applied. The Executive Director shall cause said animals to be surrendered to the institution for such use upon order of the Commission.

In executing the delivery of animals from the Commission to reputable institutions of learning and hospital laboratories, the following procedures and regulations shall prevail:

(A) No animal shall be surrendered for such medical research uses until it has been impounded for a period of at least ten days.

(B) Animals given up by their owners to the Commission may be surrendered by it for medical research under this ordinance only if owners shall signify in writing their approval for same to be done, on forms to be prescribed and provided by the Commission.

(C) No impounded animal wearing a City of Chicago license tag or any other readily traceable means of identification shall be released by the Commission for medical research until all reasonable effort has been expended to locate the rightful owner.

(D) Each institution obtaining animals under this ordinance shall adhere to the following regulations and be subject to inspection by the President of the Board of Health for purposes of determining compliance:

(1) no operation on animals obtained under this ordinance shall be made except with the sanction of the director or head of the laboratory where such operations are to be performed;

(2) in surgical operations likely to cause greater discomfort than that attending anesthetization, the animal shall first be rendered incapable of perceiving pain and shall be maintained in that condition until the surgical operation is ended;

(3) animals may be allowed to recover from surgical operations only when same have been carried out under anesthesia and with aseptic precautions, and, then, they shall be given high standard postoperative care;

(4) after an animal has been given to any institution and when identified prior to having been subjected to any research treatment, upon presentation of satisfactory evidence that the conditions of redemption have been met the animal shall be released to the owner;

(5) any complaints regarding the allocation, care, and use of animals for medical research shall be filed with the President of the Board of Health and heard by him within five days thereafter. On proof of a violation, the President of the Board of Health shall notify the Commission and the Commission shall refuse to allocate animals to the offending institutions.

98-7. The Commission shall designate, and the Executive Director shall cause to have posted or published, the day or days of each week and the hours when unredeemed animals in possession of the Commission shall be offered to the public for inspection and adoption. The Executive Director also shall designate, with the approval of the Commission, reasonable ownership standards deemed necessary for the care of adoptive animals, including inoculation and enforcement of neutering and spaying requirements for all dogs and cats adopted.

98-7.1. The Commission shall charge and collect the following fees and shall attach such additional requirements as are stated for release of animals from the Animal Control Center:

(10) Adoption fee, female dog—$10.00, or at higher bid price if auctioned, plus $20.00 deposit to guarantee spaying, plus mandatory licensing within 10 days;

(11) Adoption fee, male cat—$5.00;

(12) Adoption fee, female cat—$5.00 plus $20.00 deposit to guarantee spaying.

98-7.2. The Commission shall establish and the Executive Director shall enforce by administrative regulation the conditions and the fiscal procedure for refunding or otherwise paying out spaying deposits received from adopters of dogs and cats after such adopters furnish proof of spaying.

Any adopter of an animal from an Animal Control Center may exchange such animal for another of the same species and sex within 14 days from date of adoption if said animal has been examined by a veterinarian or by an authorized representative of the Executive Director and found to be physically or otherwise defective, or unadaptable to the home of the adopter, but no refund shall be made if exchange shall be declined by the adopter.

The Commission shall have the right to reposses irrevocably without refund or exchange privilege, any adopted animal if the owner is in default as to licensing and/or spaying requirements or any other provision of this ordinance.

98-8. Each owner, as defined in this ordinance, of each dog six months of age or older shall pay a City license fee for the privilege of owning such dog, unless such dog shall be within the confines of a veterinary hospital, pet shop, kennel, or humane society. The Commission shall keep on file, or cause to be kept on file, for two years from date of issue, a copy of each application form so processed, or a copy of each license so issued on the basis of application.

The Commission may require persons who sell, transfer ownership of, give away, or otherwise dispose of animals, or of specified species of animals, to maintain records of such transactions, including information descriptive of the animals and identity and location of the recipients. If and when such is required, the Commission shall prescribe the length of time such records shall be kept on file by the preparer and shall be permitted access to the records upon demand.

98-8.2. Application for such license shall be made to the Director of Revenue. Before a license is issued, a certificate of inoculation against rabies for each dog, issued by the county rabies control officer, or by his deputy, or by a licensed veterinarian, shall be submitted to the Director of Revenue for examination. No license shall be issued for any dog unless such inoculation certificate bears a date within three years prior to the date of application for license or such other interval as approved by the Department of Agriculture of the State of Illinois. Such certificate shall be returned to the applicant after the current dog license number has been stamped thereon. When applying for a dog license by mail, the certificate of inoculation shall accompany the application. Said certificate shall be returned at the time the license tag is mailed to the applicant.

98-8.3. The license fee shall be payable annually, irrespective of ownership duration of less than one license year, shall be due on the first day of May of each year or at such later date as a dog may be acquired or attain six months of age, and shall expire on the 30th day of April. Male or female, neutered—$1.00.

98-8.4. The foregoing shall not apply to dogs owned by or in the charge or care of nonresidents traveling through the City of Chicago or temporarily living therein or to persons who bring dogs into the City for exhibition or similar purposes under Section 98-18.1 of this ordinance; however, any person keeping or harboring any dog for 15 consecutive days within the City shall be considered a resident owner and shall comply with the licensing requirement, unless registered under Section 98-18.1 of this ordinance.

98-8.5. The Commission, through its Animal Control Officers shall issue citations against the owner of any dog that is determined to be unvaccinated and/or unlicensed, unless such dog is exempted from same by other specific provisions of this ordinance.

98-8.6. Each owner of any dog six months of age or older shall have such dog vaccinated against rabies by a licensed veterinarian of his choice. Evidence of vaccination shall consist of a certificate signed by the veterinarian. Type and brand of vaccine used shall be as approved by the Department of Agriculture of the State of Illinois. Vaccination shall be required every three years or at such other interval as required by the Department of Agriculture of the State of Illinois.

A current certificate of vaccination issued by a veterinarian licensed to practice in any other jurisdiction establishing vaccination with a vaccine approved by the Department of Agriculture of the State of Illinois, may be accepted by the Executive Director.

This licensing requirement shall not apply to domestic equine animals owned by or in the charge or care of nonresidents traveling through the City of Chicago or temporarily living therein; however, any person keeping or harboring any equine animal for 15 consecutive days within the City shall be considered a resident owner and shall comply with the licensing requirement, unless registered under Section 98-18.2 of this ordinance. An equine animal which is the property of any subdivision of local, State or Federal government shall be issued a complimentary license.

98-10. Every person in possession or control of any stable or place where any cows, horses, or other animals are kept, shall maintain it at all times in a clean and wholesome condition. Additionally no person shall maintain any stable or barn for the housing or keeping of horses or other animals during the period of each year from April 15th to November 15th unless said barn or stable is so constructed or equipped with suitable screens as to prevent the ingress or egress of flies.

(k) Oils, cremes, lotions, and other preparations used in administering massages shall be kept in clean closed containers or cabinets.

(l) No masseur or masseuse shall administer a massage to a patron exhibiting any skin fungus, skin infection, skin inflammation, or skin eruption, unless a physician duly licensed by the State of Illinois shall certify in writing that such person may be safely massaged, describing the conditions under which such massage may be performed.

(m) Each masseur or masseuse shall wash his or her hands in hot running water using a proper soap or disinfectant before administering any massage to any patron.

152-13. Advertising.

No massage establishment holding a license under this ordinance shall depict, place, publish, distribute, or cause to be depicted, placed, published or distributed any advertising matter that suggests to prospective patrons that any services are available other than those services permitted by this ordinance, or which would suggest that employees, masseurs or masseuses are dressed in any manner other than that permitted by this ordinance, and all advertisements shall contain the number of the City license held by the massage establishment.

152-14. Out Call Registration.

Any masseur or masseuse who provides any of the services provided in this ordinance at any hotel or motel must first register his or her name and permit number with the owner, manager, or person in charge of such hotel or motel. The Health Department and Police Department shall, from time to time, and at least twice a year, make an inspection of each massage establishment granted a license under the provisions of this ordinance for the purposes of determining that the provisions of this ordinance are complied with. Such inspection shall be made at reasonable times and in a reasonable manner. It shall be unlawful for any licensee to fail to allow such inspection officer access to the premises or to hinder such inspection officer in any manner.

152-16. Employment.

It shall be unlawful for any owner, operator, proprietor, manager, or other person in charge of any massage establishment to employ any person who is not at least 18 years of age.

152-17. Transfer of Permits.

No permits for the operation of a massage establishment shall be transferrable except with a written consent of the Administrative Official; provided, however, that upon the death or incapacity of the licensee, the massage establishment may continue in business for a reasonable period of time to permit an orderly transfer of the license to the personal representative of the licensee or to a transferee of the license.

152-18. Display of Permit.

Each licensee shall display a valid current permit in a conspicuous place within the massage establishment so that the same may be readily seen by persons entering the establishment.

152-19. Exceptions as to License.

No license shall be required for hospitals, nursing homes, sanitariums, or persons holding an unrevoked certificate to practice medicine under the laws of the State of Illinois, or to persons working under the personal direction of any such persons or in any such establishments, nor shall this ordinance apply to barbers or cosmetologists lawfully carrying out their profession and holding a valid unrevoked license or certificate or registration issued by the State of Illinois, nor shall the provisions of this ordinance apply to participants in any professional or amateur sports competition.

SECTION 2. Chapter 152 shall be in full force and effect 60 days from and after its passage, approval, and publication in the manner provided by law. However, any complaint heretofore filed and pending in any court of the State of Illinois at the time of adoption of this ordinance shall proceed to final disposition as if the former ordinance remained in effect.

ARTICLE I
SANITARY SEWER

The FAA, at it's cost and expense, has installed an additional 3 inch C. I. M. J. pipe line.

The city shall, at it's expense, also maintain and repair the pipe line.

ARTICLE IV
HIGH-TEMPERATURE WATER

Based on January, 1974, study by C. F. Murphy Associates, which shows that the addition of the new base floor expansion and the current cost of generating high temperature water has increased slightly since 1969, from $2.02 per million BTU to $2.31 per million BTU. Therefore, the annual charge is changed from $11,364 per annum to $21,400 per annum.

ARTICLE V
INSPECTION, HIGH-TEMPERATURE WATER SYSTEM

The annual charge is changed from $6,000 per annum to $8,400 per annum to include two additional heat exchangers for the city to inspect.

ARTICLE VI
CHILLED WATER

Based on January, 1974, study by C. F. Murphy Associates which shows that the addition of the new base floor expansion and the cost of generating chilled water has decreased from 0.036 to 0.0274 per ton-hour. Therefore, the annual charge is changed from $3,737 per annum to $5,140 per annum.

ARTICLE VII
MAINTENANCE COST FOR TUNNEL DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM

Due to the escalation in maintenance cost of the tunnel distribution system, the annual sum for FAA's share is changed from $5,900 per annum to $7,000 per annum.

ARTICLE VIII
REPAIRS

Due to the increase in chilled water requirements after completion of the O'Hare Airport Traffic Control Tower base building expansion, it was necessary to change the 4" chilled water lines to 6" chilled water lines, plus some additional valves. For this work, the non-recurring charge of $5,488 is payable upon receipt of invoice.

As a result of the above increase by $14,939 the annual total cost is changed from $27,001 to $41,940.

[Signature forms omitted]

RIDER " A "

(A) Lessee shall pay base rent for said premises from September 1, 1974, to August 31, 1975 at the rate of Two Thousand Six Hundred Ninety Three and 93/100 Dollars ($2,693.93) per month. From September 1,1975, to August 31, 1976 rent shall be Two Thousand Seven Hundred Sixty Three and no/100 Dollars ($2,763.00) per month.

(B) In addition to the Base Rent, tenant shall pay Landlord additional rent, as hereinafter described, for each calendar year following the Base Year (1973), as hereinafter referred to as Comparison Year. The additional rent to be paid by Tenant under the provisions to this paragraph for each Comparison Year shall equal the percentage which constitutes the ratio which the net rental area of the premises bears to the total net rentable area of the building (excluding the net rental area of the automobile dealership occupying the basement and a portion of the first floor of the Building) of the amount by which the sum of (i) the property taxes levied against the Building and the land on which it is located for the Comparison Year and (ii) the direct operating expenses for the Building for such Comparison Year exceeds the sum of the property taxes and the direct operating expenses for the Base Year.

(C) The term "property taxes" shall mean all taxes and assessments special or otherwise, levied upon or with respect to the Building and the land on which it is located, including any personal property taxes imposed upon the fixtures, machinery, equipment, apparatus, systems and appurtenances in, upon or used in connection with the Building for the operation thereof. The portion of such property taxes allocated by Landlord to the automobile dealership occupying the basement and a portion of the first floor of the Building shall be excluded from the definition "property taxes." Property taxes for the Base Year shall be computed for this purpose by multiplying the general rates for taxes payable in the year of execution of the Lease by the assessed value for the first year in which the land the and the completed Building have been assessed for general property taxes. Taxes for subsequent Comparison Year shall be deemed to be the taxes payable in the respective calendar year even though the levy or assessment thereof may be for a different year.

(D) Direct operating costs shall include, but shall not be limited to, taxes (other than property taxes), heat, janitor service, elevator service, water, labor, contracted labor, licenses, permit and inspection fees, insurance, materials, service charges and all other direct costs of operating and maintaining the Building (excepting the portion of such costs allocated by Landlord to the automobile dealership occupying the basement and a portion of the first floor of the Building). 30.1% approximately of property taxes and operating cost shall be attributable to the automobile dealership.

RIDER " A "

All expenditures scheduled less often than annually shall be prorated over the period to which such expenditures are applicable. In the event, because of a major capital improvement or by the use of automation, the operating expenses in any year after the base year are reduced, then the operating costs for the Base Year shall be reduced for the purpose of determining escalation rent as though such improvement or automation had been in effect during the Base Year.

(E) "Calendar year" as used in this paragraph 3 shall mean January 1 through December 31, inclusive.

(F) Statements of Tenant's pro rata share of increased property taxes and direct operating expenses to be paid by Tenant as additional rent for any Comparison Year shall be rendered by Landlord to Tenant as soon as reasonably feasible following such Comparison Year and such additional rent shall be paid by Tenant to Landlord on the first day for the payment of Base Rent under this lease following the rendering of such statement. If the final lease year is less than twelve months, the additional rent shall be prorated. Landlord agrees to keep books and records reflecting direct operating expenses of the Building in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

Tenant shall have the reasonable right to inspect such books during business hours for the purpose of verifying the information in any such statement of additional rent.

(G) Total monthly rent to be paid by the tenant under the terms of this Rider "A" shall in no case exceed the following:

Two Thousand Seven Hundred Seventy Four and 75/100 Dollars ($2,774.75) per month during the 1st. year of the lease term

Two Thousand Eight Hundred Forty Five and 89/100 Dollars ($2,845.89) per month during the 2nd year of the lease term.

RIDER " A "

(h) MORTGAGE BY LANDLORD. This lease is subject and subordinate to all mortgages which may now or hereafter affect the real property of which the demised premises forms a part, and to all renewals, modifications, consolidations, replacements and extensions thereof. This clause shall be self-operative and no further instrument of subordination shall be required by any mortgagee. Tenant hereby constitutes and appoints Landlord the Tenant's attorney-in-fact to execute any such certificate or certificates for and on behalf of Tenant.

RIDER " B "

SERVICE. The Landlord shall provide the following services to Tenant:

(A) Janitor Service and customary cleaning in and about the Premises, Saturdays, Sundays and Holidays excepted.

(B) Heat daily from 9 A. M. to 6 P. M. (Saturdays to 1 P. M.) Sundays and Holidays excepted, whenever heat shall be required for the comfortable occupancy of the premises.

(C) Water from City mains for drinking, lavatory and toilet purposes as customary for office use, drawn through fixtures installed by the Landlord.

(D) Operatorless Elevator Service in common with other Tenants at all times.

(E) Tenant shall pay direct to Commonwealth Edison Company the cost of all electrical consumption in the demised premises. The expense of metering such electrical consumption shall be borne by the tenant.

(F) Window Washing of all windows in the premises, both inside and out, weather permitting at least once each month..

(G) Air Conditioning as hereafter described in paragraph 19.

(H) The Landlord does not warrant that any of the services above mentioned will be free from interuptions caused by repairs, renewals, improvements, alterations, strikes, lockouts, accidents, inability of the Landlord to obtain fuel or supplies, or any other cause or causes beyond the reasonable control of the Landlord. Any such interruption of service shall never be deemed an eviction or disturbance of the Tenant's use and possession of the Premises or any part thereof, or render the Landlord liable to the Tenant for damages, or relieve the Tenant from performance of the Tenant's obligations under this lease, provided, however, that Landlord will at all times use reasonable efforts promptly to remedy any situation which might interrupt such services.
